HELICOPTER HOVERS OVER SINKING HOUSEBOAT

THE ORDEAL IS OVER

RESCUED BOATERS HEAD FOR SHORE

Two Alert Fishermen Save Occupants of Sinking Houseboat

(SPECIAL TO THE DAILY FREEMAN)

PLYMOUTH, MASS. — The seven occupants of a 40-foot houseboat cruising in the waters off Cape Cod Monday were rescued by two alert fishermen after the craft was swamped in heavy seas. The Rhombus, skippered by Dr. Florentino Pina of Waltham, Mass., was less than 200 yards from shore when high waves washed over the bow of the vessel, lifting the propeller out of the water. The craft then floundered, and began to sink. Two fishermen, Phillip Stack and James Halloran, spotted the stricken vessel. They edged their small cruiser alongside, and transferred the seven passengers from the houseboat. Coast Guard cutters from Cape Cod Canal, alerted to the emergency by an SOS broadcast from the houseboat, arrived at the scene a short time later and towed the partially submerged craft to Plymouth. A Coast Guard helicopter from Otis Air Force Base was dispatched to the area to escort the houseboat back to shore. According to Coast Guard officials, the mishap occurred off Manomet Point, between Plymouth and Falmouth, Mass. Rescued, in addition to Pina, were his wife and son and the four members of another family. Coast Guard officials said the two families were returning to the Newton (Mass.) Yacht Club after a weekend cruise off Cape Cod. They ran into trouble at about 4 p.m. Monday when 35 mile per hour winds caused heavy seas in the area.

They were extremely fortunate," said a Coast Guard spokesman at the District Office in Boston. "Had the two fishermen not been right in that area, they might not have been rescued."

Paris Peace Activity Intensifying

PARIS (UPI)—Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's adviser in Paris for peace negotiations with the North Vietnamese, conferred today in secret with French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann who has been active for months in seeking a negotiated end to the Vietnam War.

Both French and U.S. government officials confirmed Kissinger and Schumann had held their second meeting in three weeks.

But exactly where and when was wrapped in mystery, as have been all of Kissinger's activities during his 19 trips to Paris to meet at secret hideaways with North Vietnamese negotiators Xuan Thuy and Le Duc Tho. The only official word from anyone was that the talks were in a "delicate" stage.

French officials would only say Kissinger talked to Schumann "at a place whose secrecy will be rigorously guarded." The two met in Washington Sept. 22 and Schumann talked to President Nixon Sept. 29.

Schumann in an address at the opening of the U.N. General Assembly in New York said he thought the time was ripe for a peace settlement and that he hoped the two sides would not pass it up.

South Vietnamese troops root out Viet Cong guerrillas from hamlet 15 miles north of Saigon. Story on page 24.

Kissinger met with the North Vietnamese today for the third consecutive day—longer than he has ever talked with the Hanoi envoys before. And in Saigon, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met for 45 minutes with President Nguyen Van Thieu—also in complete secrecy.

Immediately after talking to Kissinger, Schumann went to the Elysee Palace and conferred with President Georges Pompidou.

President Nixon's peace plan as enunciated at the Paris peace talks calls for an internationally supervised cease-fire and elections which would involve various nations including possibly France, France, which fought and lost its own Indochina War, has been perhaps the outside nation most interested in a settlement and made facilities available for the peace talks.

Since then, Kissinger, Hanoi's Politburo member Le Duc Tho and chief North Vietnamese negotiator Xuan Thuy have been meeting in an inconspicuous brownstone villa surrounded by a small garden in the southern suburb of Choisy-le-Roi, close to the Hanoi delegation's main headquarters, sources said.

But government sources said today the meeting place, where the two negotiating teams have met an estimated 18 times, has been recently discovered. The French state-operated television network Monday night showed a film of the villa, its white-painted steel shutters closed tight. Kissinger would often arrive for the meetings with the North Vietnamese diplomats in a grey Citroen with no escort, the network said.

Mc to Reveal Peace Plan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. George McGovern will go on television tonight to announce his plan to end the Vietnam war and predicts that anyone who watches "will vote for the Democratic candidate on Nov. 7."

Other developments as the election campaign moved into its final four weeks included:

—A Washington newspaper story quoting law enforcement authorities on an alleged Republican sabotage campaign against Democratic presidential candidates.

—An appearance by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew at an extravaganza in Anaheim, Calif., where he said Sen. McGovern "tries to obfuscate the issues in emotional rhetoric and reckless and groundless insinuations of corruption and scandal in high places."

—Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver's statement that Americans are "would prefer honest politics to that tricky stuff."

—Disclosure that President

Nixon plans to maintain a light campaign scheduled through the election on Nov. 7.

McGovern supporters sought to create interest Monday in McGovern's television appearance in speeches marking the 1968 statement that "those who years and could not produce peace should not be given another chance."

McGovern's war speech will be aired nationally by CBS television and other television outlets at 7:30 p.m. EDT and 6:30 p.m. CDT, and will be repeated at 7:30 p.m. MDT and PDT.

In Detroit Monday night, McGovern said talk of an impending peace settlement under the Nixon administration is "just election eve talk."

The Washington Post today said White House aide Ken W. Clawson acknowledged fabricating a letter which damaged the presidential campaign of Democratic Sen. Edmund S. Muskie during the New Hampshire primary election. Clawson denies admitting the letter was his.

But the newspaper said the alleged fabricated letter was part of a Republican sabotage campaign.

Vice President Agnew addressed an overflow crowd in Anaheim's 9,000-seat convention center following a parade of personalities ranging from Frank Sinatra and John Wayne to the Southern California Mormon choir.

He said McGovern's recent statements proved he had broken a promise last May to "avoid inflammatory rhetoric." Shriver, in Pittsburgh, said that under Nixon everything

Busing Filibuster End Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today attempts to break a filibuster on a bill that would sharply restrict the use of busing as a tool for school desegregation.

Supporters of the bill said they would be surprised if they won the initial test of strength—a two-thirds majority would be required to cut off debate—in one of the last major legislative battles of the 92nd Congress.

But the groundwork already has been laid for another vote Wednesday on halting the debate. If necessary, still a third vote is in prospect for Thursday.

If a two-thirds majority cannot be obtained in three tries, the House-passed bill is likely to be shelved for the year. Opponents contend the bill is a regressive one that would turn back the clock on nearly two decades of progress since the Supreme Court's landmark ruling in 1954 that "separate but equal" schools for blacks and whites are unconstitutional.

But backers of the bill claim majority support in the Senate and across the country, and say it is entitled to a yes-or-no vote rather than being smothered by a filibuster.

The bill would make busing for school desegregation a last resort, and even then would permit busing a child no farther than the next-nearest school to his home.

In addition, it would permit reopening old court orders for school desegregation to bring them in line with the bill's restrictions on busing.

The House passed the bill on Aug. 18 by a 282-102 vote, and President Nixon reiterated last week that he is against busing and wants Congress to act before it adjourns. Adjournment may come this weekend.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., a leader of the opposition, urged the Senate Monday not to be stampeded "under the trip hammer pressure of the desire to adjourn."

He said the stakes are high, involving the future of "our children and our constitutional system of government." He said Congress could afford to wait a few months for the Supreme Court to rule on pending cases.

But Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said that "every time American voters have been given an opportunity to express themselves, they have voted that busing should be stopped."

"The time has come for the Senate to act decisively on this issue," he said.

While Stennis said the bill would preserve neighborhood schools, Hart declared that "a neighborhood school can't be maintained if it violates the Constitution."

He said the courts have found that in some cases school segregation can be rooted out only by busing.

Boiceville, Kingston High School's football game at Newburgh got hailed upon, in the slightly southern version of the stormy skies.

Cooper Lake area experienced snow flurries throughout the day Monday although no accumulation was reported. Hail was reported throughout the Mid-Hudson area in varying amounts.

Heavy rains over the past weekend plus the more wintry snow and hail showers Monday have done little to alleviate the severe September drought conditions. During the month only .63 inches of rain was officially recorded in Kingston, well under the average for a normal September in the rain.

The first real freeze of the fall season complete with snow reports clears the way for traditional Indian Summer. That time of warm temperatures hazy skies and fall foliage at its peak color by custom cannot appear before a first snow.

Record low temperatures and snow flurries in mountain areas reminded Ulster County residents of what is just around the October corner.

The Kingston City Engineer's office recorded an overnight low of 30 degrees breaking the previous low reading for the date, a 35 set in 1943. Hail showers and some snow flurries were reported in the city Monday afternoon and evening.

The Catskills in ski country were covered with traces of snow early today and mountain top temperatures hovered below freezing. At Belleayre Ski Center where every bit of snow is worth its weight in skiers, the ground was covered although the base was zero.

The Onteora High School football game postponed because of heavy rain Saturday, got a snow shower Monday afternoon in the makeup game played at

Ulster Deputies Reject CSEA

By MATT SPIRING

KINGSTON — Ulster County Sheriff's Deputies have rejected representation by the local unit of the Civil Service Employees Association (CSEA), despite CSEA claims that they are the only recognized bargaining agents for the deputies.

At a meeting Friday night, the 37 deputies attending (a majority of the department) voted unanimously not to have CSEA represent them "at this time," according to First Sergeant Donald Policastro.

The vote comes amid charges and counter-charges of pressure being brought to bear on the deputies. Local CSEA president, John Ray Mayone, told The Freeman Monday that management is putting pressure on the deputies not to deal with his union.

Policastro contends, however, that it is CSEA that is pressuring the deputies.

According to Policastro, who was elected the spokesman for the deputies at the Friday meeting, the men did join CSEA, which became their certified bargaining agent until May 1973. Since joining, however, the deputies have decided they no longer want to be represented by CSEA.

When the deputies signed up with CSEA they were not aware that they could join another union, Policastro told The Freeman. Since learning that they can join another union, the deputies have sent a letter of resignation to CSEA signed by 40 deputies.

"The men feel they resigned, yet CSEA is trying to force themselves upon them," Policastro said, adding, "We definitely do want a union."

The deputies want the Public Employment Relations Board (PERB) to come in and set up elections, Policastro said. PERB has refused, however, until after May 1973.

"We want a free choice," Policastro said.

"If they think we're forcing from talking to CSEA. He said it, then let them come in and hold a secret election," he added.

According to Policastro, any contentions that he, as a first sergeant, is forcing the men to reject the CSEA are false. "If the men elect me as their spokesman, I can't be putting any pressure on anybody," he said. Policastro explained that although he is a first sergeant, he is also a deputy sheriff. As such, he would not be considered management in a union contract, and would himself become a union member, he said.

Mayone contends that the union has never been permitted to talk to the deputies. In fact, it was announced last week that CSEA will file unfair labor practices charges against Sheriff William B. Martin because of alleged interference in union activities.

According to Policastro, the deputies have not been kept from talking to CSEA. He said the deputies at one time earlier this year, but that none of the deputies chose to attend except for himself.

An altercation allegedly occurred last Thursday between Martin and Daniel Jenks, a professional bargaining agent for the CSEA in Albany. Jenks contended that Martin physically threw him out of the sheriff's office after he tried to meet with the deputies. Martin said Friday that Jenks became "abusive" and that he "escorted him out the door."

Both Martin and Policastro have said that the deputies are interested in representation by Local 445 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Mayone contends that there are other pressures being brought to bear on the deputies. While refusing to go into detail, he said, "There is more here than meets the eye." "CSEA is going to fight this," he added.

Vigils Set for Ed Nixon Visit

KINGSTON — Two local anti-war organizations are co-sponsoring "peace vigils" to be held when President Nixon's brother, Edward Nixon, visits the mid-Hudson region Oct. 11.

The New Paltz Peace Coalition and the Group for Reconciliation of People Everywhere (GROPE) will hold a vigil from 12:15 to 1:30 p.m. at the Reelect the President headquarters on New Market Street in Poughkeepsie. Later in the day they will move to Kingston to hold a vigil from 2:45 to 4 p.m. at the Reelect the President headquarters on Clinton Avenue.

According to a spokesman for the groups, despite the claims that the war is being deescalated, it is actually expanding, with a ton of explosives dropping on Indochina every minute. "Administration rhetoric is doing very little for the 300 who die in Vietnam every day," the spokesman said.

A 7:30 p.m. rally in the lecture center at SUNY at New Paltz will feature speaker Fred Halstead, coordinator of the National Peace Action Coalition.

Light Schedule, Low Profile

Nixon...No Change in Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon apparently intends to keep his personal campaign schedule light—and his Republican profile low—right through the election four weeks from today.

Herbert G. Klein, director of communications for the administration, said Nixon will do substantially less personal campaigning in 1972 than he did two years ago.

That, of course, was a year in which he was not running but was campaigning for Republican congressional candidates.

Klein told newsmen Monday that, while Nixon's campaign schedule will be increasing in the final weeks, "I don't expect a full-time, full-blown effort... in any week I can foresee."

If there is anything approaching an intensive road campaign, he said, it will come during the week before the Nov. 7 balloting.

Klein said that represents no change in strategy. But the President and his spokesmen had given the impression that once Congress adjourned, as it is expected to do next weekend, he would be putting in considerably more time on the road.

His only campaign travel this week is scheduled Thursday, a one-day trip to Atlanta.

Two days of Nixon campaigning are likely next week.

Klein said the option for more intensive campaigning remains open. He declined to speculate as to exactly how many days Nixon will spend on the road, saying that no firm schedules have been set.

But every indication is that Nixon and his strategists have decided things are fine as they are with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and nearly three dozen proxy campaigners doing the road work while the President stays close to the White House.

Klein said the campaign being conducted by administration and congressional figures—Nixon calls them surrogates and Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern calls them lackeys—is proving effective.

In the 1970 congressional campaign, with Republicans striving unsuccessfully, it turned out—to take control of the Senate, Nixon campaigned in 23 states, much of it during an eight-day stint just before the election.

Klein said administration campaigners see no evidence that McGovern is making headway with his campaign charge that Nixon is hiding in the White House or, indeed, on other issues.

"Except for the District of Columbia, we're ahead in every poll we see," Klein said. "I don't think that means we're going to carry every state." He said the outlook is for close contests in some major states, mentioning California, Massachusetts and Michigan as examples.

Nixon's campaign is geared to gain the presidential votes of Democrats dissatisfied with McGovern. In what campaigning he has done, Nixon has not mentioned his Republicanism. The campaign advertising does not identify him as a Republican.

McGovern Shuns Reviewing Stand

NEW YORK (AP) — Most of the politicians were on the reviewing stand for the big Columbus Day Parade here, but Sen. George McGovern decided to walk along with the brightly uniformed bands and other marching groups.

At one point, his supporters swarmed into Fifth Avenue near the reviewing stand Monday and the parade was held up for 20 minutes. The result was a predictably partisan debate over parade protocol.

"You shouldn't have a rally at a parade," said U.S. Transportation Secretary John Volpe, grand marshal of the parade. "I don't think it was proper thing for him and his lieutenants to do."

McGovern said he had been invited to join the march by the International Ladies Garment Workers union and added "A parade is a day for politicians and people. People want to see their leaders."

An estimated 100,000 people turned out under sunny skies and whipping autumn winds to view the 28th annual affair.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller

did not suppress his consternation over the McGovern tactic. "We specifically asked him not to do this," the governor said. "It's a tradition in New York that politicians don't try to use parades to push their candidacies."

However, former mayor Robert F. Wagner, McGovern's campaign chairman in the state, responded to the "tradition" cited by Rockefeller, saying "I've watched him parade too, when he was a candidate."

Other Republicans who voiced disapproval were Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo, who called it "a disgraceful performance," and Mrs. Edward Cox, President Nixon's daughter, who remarked "This was supposed to have been a non-political event."

Joseph Giamboni, the parade chairman, who was sporting a Nixon button, said "no one knew that McGovern was going to march today. The parade was not a political function."

But Bronx Borough President Robert Abrahams, a Democrat, chalked the grumbling up to Republican jealousy. "They're just mad because he got such an enthusiastic welcome."

McGovern eventually took his place on the crowded reviewing stand, which was segregated with Republicans on one side and Democrats on the other.

Jane Returns to Her Alma-Mater

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Antiwar actress Jane Fonda says that the equivalent of the Hiroshima atomic bomb is rained down on the North Vietnamese every five days, with human flesh being the target of many of the bombs.

Speaking Monday at Troy's Emma Willard School, from which she was graduated in 1955, Miss Fonda said that during her recent tour of North Vietnam she saw women whose bodies were covered with pellets from U.S. anti-personnel bombs, and children who lost arms and legs from picking up American "bomblets."

She asserted that "half" the bombs U.S. planes drop on North Vietnam are anti-personnel weapons and said that before she became active in the antiwar movement she refused to believe the U.S. government "could do such things."

Tom Hayden, long-time political activist and founder of Students for a Democratic Society, accompanied the academy-award winning actress on her tour of campuses in the Albany area.

"The administration tells us the war is winding down when, in fact, it's never been higher, more devastating, more destructive," he said in a speech before 1,500 students at Siena College in nearby Loudonville.

Hayden said he and Miss Fonda were part of a group known as the Indochina Peace Campaign, which he said aimed at "exposing clearly the contradictions between what the administration says and what's really happening."

Miss Fonda told the audience at Emma Willard that the truth about the war "is being kept from us—the government is lying and deceiving its own people." She called on the students to bring pressure on newspaper editors to tell "what is really going on in Vietnam."

As she concluded her talk at the private girls' high school here, she said "it's nice to come back. It was on this stage where I acted for the first time. It's nice to do something real for a change."

Jailed Newsman Still Not Talking

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Reporter Peter Bridge said Monday he will refuse to give confidential information to a county grand jury no matter how long he remains in jail.

Bridge, 36, began serving an indefinite term in Essex County Jail last Wednesday for refusing to answer questions asked by the grand jury.

The jailing of Bridge was defended Monday by Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III. He told newsmen in New London, Conn., that he felt it was "justly deserved."

He said he feels anyone, regardless of professional ethics, should answer a grand jury inquiry. Someone's profession "in no way frees that person of a citizen's responsibilities," Gray said.

Bridge told an interviewer Monday that jail guards treat him like a "celebrity." He said they often come up and shake his hands and have indicated their support.

"I know I'll never have trouble with sources again," he said. "They know I'll go to jail." He said his jail stay was a fight for the rights of all newsmen to protect their confidential sources.

Bridge, a former reporter for the defunct Newark Evening News, said he has not adjusted to jail life, but is prepared to stay as long as necessary. "I won't give up the ghost of this principle," he said he is "even more resolute if anything that I'm absolutely right in what I'm doing. I am no here for me. I am in jail representing the press."

Bridge was sentenced by Superior Court Judge Curtis Meanor to stay in jail until he answers five questions asked by the grand jury or until the panel's term expires. The grand jury is due to complete its term Oct. 30, but technically could be extended.

Panel Advises Diet Pill Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — A would permanently crimp the general cause the loss of only a fraction of a pound per week in short-term use.

The total impact of drug-induced weight loss over that of diet alone "must be considered clinically trivial," they said, especially in light of the high potential for abuse of the diet drugs.

The recommendation, if accepted by regulatory agencies, the consultants said diet pills in

The FDA is undertaking an extensive review of all diet drugs in preparation for recommendations to the Bureau of Food and Drug Administration. The FDA is also considering a lone exception to the panel's findings was fenfluramine, patented as Pondimin by A.H. Robbins Co. of Richmond, Va.

Clinical trials have shown fenfluramine to be significantly effective in weight controls but with an apparent absence of the stimulant side-effects which make other diet pills popular among youths, truck drivers, athletes and other persons seeking a boost.

FDA officials are concerned, however, that the panel's recommendations would give the Robbins firm a virtual monopoly on the market for appetite-curb pills. The drug is not yet approved for weight control.

"Everybody would like to treat them all equally," said Dr. Barrett Scoville, deputy director of FDA's division of products. "But we are scientists and there are some facts we can't ignore."

Survey Lists County Costs

ALBANY County in 1972 was $26,585,140 in the ranking from high to low in the local tax cost of county government.

The cost of county government operations in the 57 counties of Long Island and Ulster New York was nearly $2.5 billion in 1972, according to the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a private taxpayer's research organization, an increase of 21 per cent.

The gross budget for Ulster County in 1972 was $26,585,140 and revenues other than local taxes were estimated to total $15,221,418, leaving $11,363,722 to be raised by property and sales taxes.

Based on the provisional 1970 census population, the total county tax levy averaged $77.96 per person in the county so that Ulster County ranked 25th in the ranking from high to low in the local tax cost of county government.

In 1971, the Ulster County per capita local tax levy averaged $61.39.

Statewide, the median per capita local tax is $74.95, up from $62.03 in 1971.

Gross budgets for the 57 counties outside New York City totaled $2,480 million, an increase of $429 million over 1971 according to the survey.

The 57 counties estimated receipts from state and federal governments along with cash surpluses and miscellaneous revenues to total $1,441 million, leaving $1,039 million to be raised by county taxes.

County taxes in this survey included the real property tax levied by the county and the county share of the sales tax in effect in 42 counties. In 13 counties no sales tax has been imposed, and the entire local burden is in the real property tax. Sales tax receipts in Ulster County were $2.7 million.

Farmers Urged to Nominate ASC Candidates

KINGSTON Ulster County farmers are encouraged to nominate candidates for Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) community committees, reports David Squires, Ulster County ASCS Executive Director. Petitions, to be signed by a minimum of three qualified voters, must be filed by Oct. 27 at the Ulster County ASCS Office, 54 John Street, Kingston.

"We are hopeful a slate of at least six candidates will be nominated by farmer petitions, including representatives of the minority groups in Ulster County," said Squires. ASCS programs are non-discriminatory and administered without regard to race, color, creed, sex, or national origin.

Eligible farmers may sign as many nominating petitions as they wish. No special petition form is required, but the petition must include a statement that the nominee is willing to serve if elected. Most persons eligible to participate in ASCS programs are eligible to serve as ASC committeemen. This includes producers, sharecroppers, tenants, and minor who supervise an entire farm operation.

Nominee must have farming interests within the ASC community, be qualified ASC voters and not have reached their 70th birthday by the date they take office. Further details on nominations for ASC community committeemen may be obtained from the County ASCS Office.

ASC community committeemen elected by mail ballots December 1, 1972 will assist the County ASC Committee with ASCS programs, conduct farm community meetings, and serve as delegates to the Ulster County Convention to elect the county ASC committee.

Poetry Readings Scheduled in Rhinebeck

RHINEBECK event slated for 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 11.

Poetry readings are the newest endeavor to be undertaken by Upstate Films Ltd. of Rhinebeck, with the kickoff opening program will be a celebration of nature and features guest poets Ree Dragonette and James McMurry, as well as two Bard poets, Michael Rivlin and Jeffrey Ruddick.

Ms. Dragonette is particularly noted for her readings with jazz quartets at New York's Town Hall and other concert halls. Anais Win wrote of her poetry in her diary saying, "Her's is a new imagery and symbolism, interesting fusion of old myth and science." Her book "Parable of the Fixed Stars" reflects a deep love of the natural world.

James McMurry, a resident of the Catholic Worker Farm, began his study of poetry as secretary to Thomas Merton at Gethsemani Abbey, a Trappist Monastery in Kentucky.

The poetry expresses his concern for the Hudson River countryside where he lives with his wife Erica and son Cane. He is author of several books of poetry and children's stories including "Fairy Tales of the Hudson River Valley."

Through this program the Catholic Worker and the poets hope to engage the community in a regular poetry forum. Future programs will include readings by Allen Ginsberg.

Ginzburg Slated for Release

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The 43-year-old New York publisher will be on parole for the remainder of his three-year sentence for sending obscene material through the mail.

The conviction in 1963 stemmed from the fourth and final editions of Eros, a $10 volume which carried the "American heritage" credit on its cover. The edition featured a photo essay of a nude black man and white woman together.

Ginzburg had tried and failed to get mailing privileges from the post office at Intercourse, Pa., in Lancaster County.

In hearing his appeal in 1968, the Supreme Court said Ginzburg's attempt to use that particular post office indicated he was "pandering to the widespread weakness for titillation by pornography."

Although his appeal was denied in a 5-4 decision, Ginzburg's original five-year sentence was reduced.

The initial trial was held in district court in Philadelphia in 1963. The judge, Ralph C. Bode, said Ginzburg could have been sentenced to 140 years if found guilty on 28 counts.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 10, 1962

WASHINGTON — Christmas usually comes early for the fat cats, with Uncle Sam playing Santa Claus.

The best time to sneak special benefits through Congress, they have found, is during the end-of-the-season rush. Then legislators are so impatient to adjourn Congress and head for home that they don't always bother to scrutinize the fine print.

As Santa's helper, Senate Finance Chairman Russell Long, D-La., customarily prepares the Christmas goodies in the form of tax breaks for the special interests. Every dollar that the fat cats escape paying, of course, must be made up by the rest of the taxpayers.

But the Senate action is usually too fast for the public to follow and Long's hand is quicker than the public's eye.

Now the Senate is heading for another adjournment, the quorum calls are ringing like jingle bells and folks are too busy to notice what Long is doing. But in the privacy of his Senate suite, he is again merrily arranging this season's Christmas presents for the fat cats.

Representative James Burke, D-Mass., for example, has gift-wrapped two bills to slip under Long's Christmas tree. One would give the cigar industry a $120 million tax break over 10 years and the other would be worth a whopping $3 million to the olive industry.

Another $250,000 tax windfall for the operations of oil rigs and shrimp boats should get special handling from Long, who has oil in his bloodstream from both sides of his family and a soft spot for everyone in the oil industry. The bill, moreover, has the backing of House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs.

House Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills, meanwhile, is pushing a $70 million tax savings for the banks. This is expected to wind up too, under Long's Christmas tree. Representative Hugh Carey, D-N.Y., has also prepared a tax break, complete with Christmas trimmings, for the cable TV industry.

Billions-Dollar Bauble

Perhaps the most glittering Christmas bauble, worth up to $1 billion (B) to the tax-exempt foundations, has been readied for Long's Christmas bag by Representative Herman Schneebeli, R-Pa.

Many tax-exempt foundations get away with running great business enterprises, on the theory that the profits go to charities. To make sure the charities got their fair share, Congress in 1969 increased the amount that had to go to charity by four to six per cent over five years.

Schneebeli's bill would cancel this, thus taking the money away from the charities and giving it back to the foundations to use for operating capital.

The bill has been pushed by the Pew Memorial Trust, which would save $40 million over the five-year period. It's worth mentioning that the Pew family contributed $7,000 to Schneebeli's last election campaign.

All these Christmas baubles, having to do with taxes, must first clear the House. Then they are delivered to Senator Long who, appropriately enough, has a cherubic look and a jolly nature. Insiders say he had planned to push a series of innocuous bills through the Senate this week. His strategy was to slip the Christmas baubles through while the bored senators were paying no attention.

Hopefully, our story may alert the senators or, perhaps, dissuade Long from going ahead with his sleeper play.

Washington Whirl

COMPUTER FAILURE — The House's long-awaited, million-dollar electronic voting system has flunked its first test. The Control Data Corporation spent almost a year assembling the sophisticated, computerized system which swiftly records House votes. At last, House Administrative Chairman Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, was invited to test the system. He selected his personalized voting card, inserted it in an electronic voting station and punched the button. The display board registered his "yes" vote. Then Hays attempted to change his vote. The machine stubbornly refused to record it. No manner of tinkering and fuming would change the machine's mind. "This is a sad performance," grumped Hays. "I won't sign a single voucher until it's working."

PEEKABOO CAMERA — President Nixon's former campaign security chief Jim McCord bought a tiny peekaboo TV camera, miniature monitor and a bracket suitable for mounting the camera inside a ventilation duct a few months before he was caught inside Democratic party headquarters. He confided to a salesman at Washington's Shrader Sound that it was for "surveillance." After some hesitation, McCord billed the $373.82 worth of snooping gear to the Republican National Committee. When we inquired, the committee opened their entire security system for our inspection. We were convinced that the hidden camera was never intended to spy upon the Democrats but to prevent the Democrats — or anyone else — from spying on the Republicans.

Post-Election Era

WASHINGTON — There are two things that seem to be uppermost in the minds of business people nowadays. One is the apparent trend toward an improvement in business, and the other is the confident expectation that, once the election is over, the country will experience an even more healthy period of expansion.

Executives of large and small companies seem convinced that the Nixon administration will be continued and that no major changes in laws will be made until the new Congress takes over in January. The belief is that taxes will not be increased and that revenues in business, as well as individual incomes, will not be affected adversely by any "reform" measures at least for a year or two.

On the whole, a feeling is beginning to develop throughout the country that if President Nixon is re-elected, there will be beneficial effects on business at home and abroad. Substantial gains in trade with foreign nations are in prospect, and it is considered likely that many jobs will be created as the demand for American-made products grows.

All of the national polls have found Mr. Nixon to be the leader in the race. Businessmen who had been waiting for the election results before making plans for expansion if the Republican nominee was successful now are starting to take steps to launch their projects as soon as possible.

Somewhat there is an extraordinary state of mind among the voters. Many of the local political leaders privately concede that the outlook is for big majorities for President Nixon. It is evident from reports and surveys that the South is almost solidly in favor of the Republican candidate. If he should carry all 15 of the southern and border states, he would have 169 of the 270 electoral votes needed to win. This would mean the rest of the country would have to provide only 101 votes to give Mr. Nixon the minimum required for re-election.

There are indications, of course, that Mr. Nixon is strong also in various states in the east as well as in the middle west and the far west which have far more than 100 electoral votes. The surveys generally show that the Republicans will carry many of the big states, and all this has led to talk about a "landslide."

The results of a significant poll was announced a few days ago by "Editor & Publisher," a magazine devoted to the newspaper industry. Its survey of the daily newspapers throughout the country shows that, out of the 804 replying, 548 are endorsing President Nixon for re-election and 38 are endorsing Senator McGovern. The remaining 218 either have made no comment or are independent. The 548 which favor President Nixon have a combined circulation of 17,532,456, while the 38 which endorse Senator McGovern have a circulation of 1,468,223.

Some people are asking: "Could the polls be wrong?" Rarely in an election year have all the surveys and polls been so unanimous in their forecasts. Urban as well as rural areas have been visited by newspaper reporters in their respective localities, and the information thus far gathered usually indicates that public sentiment is basically against a shift in the national government at this time.

In previous elections, particularly when an incumbent president was up for re-election, it was not difficult to ascertain the depth of the support or opposition and to determine whether the people wanted a change and would vote against the administration. While the problems of government nowadays, both in domestic and foreign policy, are complex and there are many issues which can affect the various groups, the feeling generally is that the surveys have been accurately reflecting the current attitude of the voters.

Lots of things are being said on the campaign battlefield. Charges and innuendos about the Nixon administration are being heard, but the President has made up his mind to avoid any involvement in that kind of campaigning. He believes in sticking to the issues facing the government and talking about what he can do in the White House if he is given another four-year term.

Two Men With a Problem

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The two young men had been on heroin and now were in a therapeutic area learning to break the habit.

They were quite impressive, both of them. They seemed to be on the way. Talking with them was the sort of experience that gave you hope.

The secret of their progress seemed to lie in a few simple things. They lived under stringent, rigid rules which they knew they could not break. They knew the penalties for violations, and they knew these penalties would be enforced. They had definite responsibilities and there was no shying away from those responsibilities.

When it was necessary, they were dressed down like they had never been dressed down in their lives. They could leave if they couldn't take it. They lived in absolute honesty.

No one in the house they stay in minced any words about what they thought about what anyone else in the house was doing, or how he did it. In return, the two young men did not shy away from absolute frankness in saying what they thought about the other young men and women in the house — to their faces.

But there were rules as to when that could be done too.

They had been, they said, young men who insisted on doing what they wanted to do when they wanted to do it. They hadn't at home, at school or at work, wanted to be told to do anything — and certainly not by a time schedule. They hadn't had responsibility.

Now they were living with all these things. And liking it.

But they were having trouble with the outside world. Outside people they had contact with (their parents) found it difficult to deal with their frankness.

They weren't certain why they'd gone on dope. Neither one blamed his parents. Neither knew what his parents could have done. One thought perhaps his mother had been too easy on him, hadn't given him enough responsibility. Maybe, he said, she had given him too much money to spend and not asked enough of him. His stepfather had tried to interest him in his business, but he didn't respond.

Now, when he's cured, he wants to go into his stepfather's business, learn the trade. He thinks he was a child. He is certain he's slowly growing up now and can take it.

The other young man, a black, said he had been very close to his parents. They went everywhere together, not because he was forced to, but because he liked being with them.

But he was bored with school, began hanging around with other young dropout types, drifted into dope when the others invited him.

What would have kept him in school? He doesn't know, but did mention he'd wanted to write poetry but was afraid to mention it to his teachers because it might make people think he wasn't manly enough.

There was no doubt this young man was growing up too. But it seemed he was somewhat concerned about what he would do when he left the house. He didn't want to go back to his old friends, the ones he'd gotten in trouble with. That could lead to the same old problem over again. But how would he relate to straight people who hadn't had the experiences he'd been through? What would they talk about or do together?

There are certainly no general conclusions to be drawn about the drug problem from these talks with just two young men. But the fact that both came from very different family situations and viewed their own reasons for turning to drugs in very different ways is a suggestion of the complexity of this "disease" and a reason it has been so difficult to eradicate.

Propaganda Backfire

The shots fired by North Vietnam in its latest propaganda war have boomeranged.

There's no doubt that the release of three American prisoners of war to antiwar activists from the United States just a few weeks prior to the presidential election was a carefully engineered scheme designed to embarrass the administration.

Certainly the potential was there.

Here were three American fliers who had been confined for years and who, while suffering the indignities of prisoners of a Communist country that does not even adhere to the amenities of the Geneva Convention, had ample time to think about the horrors of war.

More than that, they obviously were selected by design and not by chance because their captors assumed the three would reflect an attitude derogatory to United States policy.

For several days in was a touchy situation. The Pentagon and State Department maneuvered to gain control of the military men, but lost out to the antiwar group and it appeared that the elaborate plans of the Communists to enlist American spokesmen for their cause would succeed.

It was a cruel hoax with the fliers as pawns, but now an appraisal of the situation reveals that the pawns have become at least knights, that they have not been duped by the phony magnanimity of Hanoi and that they are first and foremost, Americans interested in the welfare of their country.

They have visited with their families, they have voluntarily returned to the jurisdiction of the military, have entered hospitals and above all, have thoughtfully refrained from any statement that would give comfort to the enemy.

Unused Brain Power

Victor Taylor, 28, is serving 61 years in the U.S. Penitentiary in Marion, Ill., called "the new Alcatraz" where the toughest federal prisoners are sent. Once he scaled a 40-foot prison wall in a desperate attempt to escape. He has just completed four years of college work in the last 21 months, magna cum laude. His cumulative grade was 4.89 out of a possible 5.00, with straight A's except for French only.

Taylor got his diploma from Southern Illinois University. Said Dr. Walter G. Robinson Jr., head of the Black American Studies program at S.I.U. in nearby Carbondale, "There are Vic Taylors at every institution. There is an abundance of brain power sitting out there behind those walls."

U.S. prison officials say that six to 10 per cent of the 400,000 federal prisoners currently are taking some college courses. Education programs have sharply reduced recidivism. Taylor himself is a repeat offender. But with his degree, B.A. in psychology, he wants to help other blacks to help themselves.

There should be ways to make use of the vast store of brain power that Vic Taylor represents. Other convicts have been released under probation to help youngsters to avoid a life of crime. Those 24,000 to 40,000 prison students are preparing themselves for a better life outside. They are proving their hope for a new start. Many could be helping to reduce crime by the leadership they can give their peers. It is better than locking them up for years and shelving the brains they are developing.

O'Neil Attacks Foe On Defense Spending

BINGHAMTON — Security Council, a non-governmental organization that searches defense proposals, distributes defense information to inform the public, and rates congressmen and senators according to their votes on military matters has just issued its ratings for this year.

"Congressman Howard W. Robison my Republican opponent, has received a rating of 50 per cent", O'Neil said. "For an up state Republican congressman this is an incredibly low score in the vital area of national defense. This was the second lowest rating on defense of all New York State Republican representatives. Only Congressman Seymour Halpern of the New York City area was lower with 36 per cent. Not only was this rating impossible low among Republicans but many Democrats, such as Representative Samuel Stratton of Amsterdam who did much better, Stratton managed to score twice Robison's score. Stratton got a perfect 100."

War No Issue; Claims Blazer

SOUTH KORTRIGHT — David H. Blazer, Democratic nominee in the 27th Congressional District again detailed his position on U.S. involvement in Vietnam. Blazer said, saying that "the war is no longer an issue in this campaign. However, it is still costing American dollars but most importantly American lives and consequently is still a major issue in this campaign."

Specifically, Blazer said, "I would hope that all military involvement could end at once in Vietnam. Since such a policy is unlikely under the present administration, I support a U.S. withdrawal within 90 days of the inauguration of the next president."

Another tragic aspect of the war is the fate of our POWs being held in North Vietnam. Blazer asks, "Are these men to be doomed to remain in captivity. We seem to have forgotten about them." If elected he said he would work toward obtaining freedom for these men.

The 27th Congressional District includes all of Tioga, Sullivan, and Broome Counties, most of Delaware and Ulster Counties and parts of Tompkins and Chemung.

"Lorraine is a resourceful and imaginative cook," he added. "Our family and friends have long enjoyed her tasty and economical dinners." The Burns' have a 14-year old son, Johnny.

Bell Details Positions to Gardiner GOP

GARDINER — Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock) a candidate for reelection, appeared before the Gardiner Republican Club recently, and explained the bond issue is Proposition One on the ballot this November. The candidate also explained the proposed constitutional amendments, and answered questions about reapportionment, the Fleishmann report on education, plans for Stewart Air Field, Ganahgote Reservoir, and other subjects.

Incumbent Edwin Mason, a candidate in the 28th Senatorial District, which includes Gardiner, will attend the Gardiner Republican Club meeting Oct. 25 at the Ireland Corners Hotel.

Hinchey Calls for Adoption Of Comprehensive Planning

SAUGERTIES — The adoption of a comprehensive plan for the future development of Ulster County, the first in the 300-year history of the county, has been called for by Maurice Hinchey Jr., the Democratic-Liberal candidate for the Assembly. "The objective of this plan is to provide a blueprint for use by the county, its 20 towns, the City of Kingston and its villages and by business and industry, land developers, countywide and community organizations and individual residents," Hinchey said.

"Over the next decade, Ulster County is going to experience a heavy growth rate. We must make provisions to control the direction and the pattern of development as well as the rate of growth. We must provide for the elimination of deterioration and obsolescence, and the preservation of open space and the natural environment. Finally we must attempt to limit the population growth of Ulster County within the capabilities of its life supporting facilities while providing for natural increase," Hinchey said.

"Cleaner air and water, more efficient transportation, a broader range of housing accommodations, new jobs, recreation and educational facilities, medical and social services designated to meet the needs of those most dependent upon them are all now within the realm of possibility. The longer we delay in adopting a comprehensive master plan for Ulster County, the lesser become our chances of achieving our objectives in these areas," he said.

"Already, most of our transportation problems are caused by dependence on the automobile for intracounty and intercounty trips in the Hudson Valley. This is beginning to result in increased traffic congestion, accidents and air pollution. We must learn from the sad experience of other, more urban areas and begin now to place greater emphasis on mass transit," Hinchey continued.

"All wetlands should be placed under the state's Wetlands Preservation Act. The recommendations of the Ulster County Planning Board such as that which calls for continuous green belts along the county's streams should be adopted."

"The future is rapidly closing in on us. It has been said that the future has no constituency; without a plan, imaginatively conceived and courageously implemented, the constituency may have no future," he concluded.

Hunter Backs 'No-Fault' Plan

WASHINGTONVILLE — "The federal government will move into the regulation of automobile insurance if the states do not adopt true no-fault insurance programs," Sears Hunter, Democratic candidate for the State Senate, was warned by three Orange County insurance men during a recent conference.

Joseph M. Fowler of Walden, John W. Dickerson of Goshen, and Greene made this prediction while affirming their support for Hunter's stand in favor of no-fault insurance as provided by the Gordon bill which was defeated by the New York State Legislature earlier this year.

The three agents are members of the Society of Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters (CPCU), a professional designation awarded by the American Institute for Property Underwriters, Inc.

They asserted that New York and the other states should act before the United States government forces more federal regulation upon them in a matter which could better be handled at the state level. Savings on premiums for auto owners can be anticipated on the basis of the experience of states which already have such a plan. The Massachusetts plan, in operation for more than a year, has brought substantial savings it would allow injured parties to file lawsuits without regard to the extent of injury or damage. "Further," Hunter adds, "no companion bill to the LaVerne bill was introduced in the Assembly which indicates that Schermerhorn and the other senators were not determined to see their bill become law."

Hunter is running in the 40th district against the incumbent, Schermerhorn. Donald Short, the Liberal Party candidate and Joseph Martorana, an Independent candidate.

Gilman Hits Dow On Busing Issue

MIDDLETOWN — "I would have voted far differently than my Democratic opponent," He noted that on at least 14 occasions in 1971 and 1972, Dow voted against bills or amendments to "either ban or limit busing" and for proposals to "weaken restrictions on busing."

Gilman criticized Dow particularly for voting against the Higher Education Amendments of 1972, presumably because the measure included anti-busing provisions. Gilman said the measure deserved support for many reasons, including its provisions for aid to colleges and students and its appropriation of $2 billion for non-busing school desegregation programs.

"If congressional proponents of busing had their way," Gilman added, "many children in the 26th Congressional District would be subject to the whims of those who mistakenly regard busing as a genuine answer to problems of racial balance and educational quality."

Gilman also chided his opponent Democrat Rep. John Dow for his voting record on busing.

"If I had been in Congress the past two years," he said, "The majority of people oppose busing, not because they are racists or demagogues, but because the neighborhood school is part of their lifestyle and they want to preserve it," said Gilman.

"If anything, name-calling serves to distort the issue and make rational discussion impossible," he said.

Gilman also chided his opponent Democrat Rep. John Dow for his voting record on busing.

"If I had been in Congress the past two years," he said, "The majority of people oppose busing, not because they are racists or demagogues, but because the neighborhood school is part of their lifestyle and they want to preserve it," said Gilman.

Edward Nixon will be in Ulster County at the Reelect the President Headquarters on Wednesday, October 11 at approximately 3 p. m. A reception being handled by Republican Women of Ulster County will be given in his honor with Mrs. Bartz extending an invitation to all Nixon supporters.

Allied Chemical Tower ...For Sale Sign Out

NEW YORK (AP) — The owner has hung a for sale sign on the Allied Chemical Tower, the landmark triangular building with the moving electric headline in Times Square.

Allied Chemical Corp. announced Monday that it no longer needs the office space and plans to sell the 23-story tower to the highest bidder over $7 million.

John T. Connor, Allied Chairman, said the building is a "unique structure . . . that has enormous public relations value" for an owner in the field of consumer products or services.

Built by the New York Times in 1904, the tower was bought by Allied in 1963 and completely renovated with a new white marble and glass exterior.

At the "crossroads of the world" the tower has been the traditional focus for the Times Square New Year's Eve celebration. A lighted ball descends the tower to mark the start of the New Year.

McGovern to Reveal...

He continued to dismiss the likelihood of an early Vietnam settlement while talking with reporters during an appearance at New York's Columbus Day parade, which drew cheers from his supporters and jeers from top Republican leaders.

"I hope they're true," he told a reporter who asked the candidate about the peace rumors during a pause in the parade. "But frankly I'm afraid it's just election-eve talk."

A statement issued by McGovern aides said that statistics about costs, casualties and extent of bombing show "that the war is not winding down" and listed a series of optimistic predictions from administration spokesmen which it said "reveal four years of bogus hopes."

"They are especially useful in providing a realistic context to view the current administration-initiated speculation about a breakthrough in Paris," the background sheet added.

McGovern spoke to what some Michigan Democrats said was their largest fund-raising dinner in history.

He told his audience that Monday was the fourth anniversary of Nixon's 1968 campaign statement that "those who have had a chance for four years and could not produce peace should not be given another chance."

McGovern said in advance of his speech, which aides consider one of the most crucial of his uphill presidential campaign, that the war remains "the clearest and sharpest of all the issues between Richard Nixon and George McGovern on Nov. 7."

McGovern predicted in a speech Monday night to a $50-a-plate dinner in the Detroit suburb of Southfield that anyone who watches the telecast "will vote for the Democratic candidate for president on Nov. 7."

At the time it is shown, McGovern will be in Chicago for a speech to a $15-a-plate "people's dinner" planned for more than 7,000.

He scheduled speeches earlier in the day to a United Auto Workers rally in Detroit and another rally at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

Although the specifics of McGovern's speech are being

Fire Prevention Week

Fire Hurts....

The problem of man and his environment is very much in the forefront these days. There is concern—rightly so—with the air we breathe, the purity of the water in our rivers and lakes, the ugly blot of pollution on so many of our resources.

What tends to be overlooked is the effect of destructive fire on our environment.

Anyone who has seen the aftermath of a fire which has wiped out a block of homes housing a score of families, or gutted a plant employing hundreds of persons, can testify that fire is an important environmental factor. Pollutants destroy, and fire destroys—thousands of lives each year, and billions of dollars worth of our natural and man-made resources.

As with other kinds of pollution, the answer to the fire problem begins with individual actions and reactions. We must change the habits that so commonly cause fires—careless smoking, negligent handling of gasoline, for example. We must become intolerant of conditions that lead to fire—like defective heating equipment, frayed electric cords. We must take protective action—like preplanning escape measures, never leaving children unattended.

Now, during Fire Prevention Week, is a time to remind ourselves that fire hurts, both physically and financially. Above all, this is a time to realize that whether we have an environment free of destructive fire is largely up to us.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened higher today, as investors hopefully awaited signs of a breakthrough in the Paris peace negotiations between U.S. and North Vietnamese representatives.

The talks also spurred the market Monday, brokers said.

At the opening today, advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by 2 to 1, and the Dow Jones industrial average was up fractionally.

Stock market prices Monday moved higher, prodded by hopes of a breakthrough in peace talks between presidential advisor Henry Kissinger and the North Vietnamese in Paris.

The Dow Jones industrial average gained 3.39 to 948.75.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange fell to 7.94 million shares, lowest level since Veterans Day of 1971. Many traders had taken the day off, observers said, in observance of Columbus Day.

Governor Seeks

Disaster Aid For Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Gov. Linwood Holton has asked President Nixon to declare 38 Virginia counties and 16 towns struck by flooding disaster areas.

Holton Monday estimated damage from the flooding that started Thursday after heavy autumn rains at $19 million.

Six persons were known dead. A search was continued at the town of Emporia for Mayor George F. Lee, who was presumed dead after he was swept away by flood waters from the Meherrin River Saturday night.

Hardest hit by the flooding was the Civil War battle site of Petersburg 25 miles south of Richmond, where the Appomattox River overflowed its banks and flooded the town's historic Old Market district. Businessmen Monday began the task of scraping mud and silt from their buildings and wares.

Flood waters inundated river front sections of Petersburg, and damage to the town was estimated at $6 million. The flood knocked out the city's sewage treatment plant.

Viet Romance

NEW YORK (AP) — Twice Stephan Menta went to South Vietnam — once under orders of the U.S. Army, the second time drawn by the girl he loved.

Menta and the Vietnamese girl he calls "Leenie" were married Monday, climaxing an East-West romance that began in the summer of 1970 when he was an American GI stationed near the demilitarized zone.

When his tour of duty ended 11 months later, he promised Leenie, 22, whose real name is Thai Thi Thiet, that he would send for her as soon as he was discharged.

But bureaucracy and distance took their toll and he lost track of her. Out of the Army, he decided last June that the only way to find her was to go back.

Painstakingly tracing her through refugee camps, he found her in Da Nang. Red tape melted in the glare of publicity that attended his romantic mission and Menta returned with his bride-to-be on July 13.

"I knew we'd make it, but I never thought it would be this great," Menta, 24, said Monday as he left his Jackson Heights, Queens, home for Our Lady of Fatima Church three blocks away.

Today the newlyweds are off for a Caribbean honeymoon and then they will return to Jackson Heights to live while Menta finishes an executive training course with a New York bank.

A Report On Baby Killers

CHICAGO (AP) — An Ohio doctor reports new evidence about children who kill infants because they are jealous of them.

Dr. Lester Abelson of the Case Western Reserve University school of medicine in Cleveland took note of five such cases which came to the attention of the Cuyahoga (Ohio) County coroner's office in a 3½-year period.

Writing in the Oct. 9 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Abelson said the victims ranged in age from 7 weeks to 8 months.

Their aggressors, ranging from 2½ to 8 years of age, were a young aunt, the son of a baby-sitter, a cousin, sons of a loving blows or other injuries neighbor, and a brother.

All of the babies died of head injuries resulting from being the victim.

"This study indicates undoubtedly that the frailty of the tiny child is motivated to vulnerable to injuries inflicted by preschool children and provides yet additional examples of the complete removal of the unwanted person, it is written, paradoxical that small children either cannot grasp or have extreme difficulty in coping with the concept of the permanence of death."

He said it is probable that in many instances "the first blow in the household" provides the provocation for the lethal assault," Abelson said.

Vendors' Wagons Still Roll

BALTIMORE (AP) — They continue to rent a pony and call them street A-rabs — per cart from the 60 stables still haps, because like the nomadic left in the city, which furnish Arabs, they trade from their them for about $5 a day.

Most have used the same pony and rig for years, says the "A" is strictly Baltimore, John Quarles, whose own stable as are the sellers themselves.

Each morning they begin their day-long journey through the streets of Baltimore, some starting as early as 4 a.m., to pick up their fruit and vegetables from the wholesale markets.

"You have to get there early or you don't get anything," says Sonny Diggs.

Some hawk their wares from the backs of pickup trucks, but the majority of the 500 A-rabs

THE Maryland county for strawberries.

The same is true of, contalopes, but corn is more likely to be hawked as coming from the "Eastern Shore," which automatically guarantees it to be sweeter and more tender.

Nearly all the street A-rabs begin their daily tours in the inner city, where the stables are located amid doomed row houses and huge empty lots filled with broken bricks and dying trees.

From there, they move steadily northward toward the more affluent suburbs of Roland Park and Guilford, with their formal gardens and handsome fieldstone houses.

You can hear them coming for blocks with their soulful, almost indescribable cries.

Most are also undecipherable except for an occasional "hard c r a a a b s!" or "water-meeelons!"

Each has his own distinctive spiel. Some, like Diggs, sound high pitched and pleading — almost tearful. Others have more of a deep rumble with an effect not unlike a kettle drum.

Nearly all have nicknames.

There's Heavy Mose, Sharp-eye Clark, Preacher, Railroad, Tomboy, Manboy, Mooseface, July, Ratpea, Blue Crabby, Aunt Sam Coozie and Cowboy Willis.

Cowboy Willis wears a 10-gallon hat and boots and carries in his gun holster a butcher knife that he uses to plug water-melons.

For Diggs, who has been selling for 27 of his 33 years (he began at the age of 6 as a helper), it's not work and some extra change as much as it is a hobby.

"If I didn't do it myself," he adds, "I'd be helping someone else A-rab and if I ever stopped doing it altogether, well, it would be something happy missing from my life."

Diggs works fulltime at the Social Security Administration office in Baltimore, but every Saturday he's back on the street A-rabbing, sometimes with his 5-year-old son, Clifton.

Radio Club Sets Classes

KINGSTON
The Overlook Mountain Amateur Radio Club will start a series of classes designed to help the beginner in short-wave radio communication on Wednesday, Oct. 11, in Room 413, Vocational Building of Kingston High School. Classes will begin at 7 p.m. and run until approximately 9 p.m.

Talks dealing with fundamentals of radio theory, along with instruction in the International Morse Code will be presented. Both the code and theory instruction will enable class members to pass the Federal Communications Commission examination for novice class amateur radio operator license. The course will run for approximately two and one-half months meeting weekly on Wednesday nights.

Attend State Soil Convention

KINGSTON
Several representatives from Ulster County attended the 1972 annual meeting of the New York Soil and Water Conservation Districts at Painted Post, New York recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor McCord of Accord the Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Barnhart of Stone Ridge attended a luncheon for State Association Directors and wives. A tour was made of the Corning Glass Museum on the opening day of the meeting. McCord and Barnhart are directors of the Ulster County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Highlights of the convention included speeches by Corning Mayor Joseph Nassar, Assemblyman Charles Hendersen, and Ron Pedersen, Deputy Commissioner of the Department of Environmental Conservation.

Pedersen's talk emphasized the need for sound land use planning, particularly in regard to flood plain zoning. The damage done in the area by Hurricane Agnes is still evident in the Corning area. The water was said to have reached a level of 29 feet above normal at the height of the flood.

Black Assembly Elects Slate

KINGSTON
Mrs. Helen Oliver was elected president of the Ulster County Black Assembly as a result of county-wide elections held recently.

William Knox was elected vice-president, Lester Hatcher recording secretary, Eleanor Carr corresponding secretary, and Ron Robinson treasurer.

The new officers will be installed Saturday, Oct. 28, at a place to be announced, during a county-wide Youth Halloween Party.

"I urge you to protect your family with this extra cash plan"

Art Linkletter

Send no money—just mail Enrollment Form to start your coverage of up to $800.00 a month extra cash

$26.67 a day when you go to the hospital for any covered accident or illness

NO AGE LIMIT • NO SALESMAN WILL CALL • BENEFITS START THE FIRST DAY YOU'RE HOSPITALIZED.

Start Protection At No Charge

We have a great family insurance policy for you. It pays at the rate of $800.00 a month for adults—$26.67 a day—for as long as you stay in the hospital for any covered accident or illness. It also pays at the rate of $480.00 a month—$16.00 a day—for your covered children.

If you're 65 or over, you're paid $560.00 a month in benefits, but only for your first three months in the hospital. From then on, you collect full benefits of $800.00 a month.

To attract as many new policyholders as possible, we offer you coverage without charge, while you're inspecting your policy. The National Home policy has very few ifs, and's or buts. You can understand it in just a few minutes. There's a chance that someone in your family will go to the hospital this year. If it happens to you, you'll find our benefits a godsend.

Extra Cash Paid Direct

This money is paid directly to you—not to any doctor or hospital. If you have bills to pay, you decide who gets paid first. If you're free and clear, you can put the money in the bank. And furthermore, our lawyers tell us this money is free from income taxes.

Regular Hospitalization Insurance May Not Be Enough

Do you have group insurance where you work? A Blue Cross Hospitalization Plan? A Blue Shield Medical Plan? Major Medical? Or are you on Medicare? You'll find, when you go to the hospital, that some policies like these may not pay all of your bills.

Our policy will pay you up to $26.67 a day for some of the expenses your other insurance may not cover when you are hospitalized.

Take Medicare. When you are hospitalized there is a $68.00 Hospital deductible and a $50.00 Medical deductible. Then there is 80-20 co-insurance on the Medical portion of your hospital bill (they pay 80% of the bill and you pay 20%). Finally, there are maximum allowances for each type of medical service. If a doctor charges more than the allowance—as many do—you have to pay the difference.

Our policy will help to pay for some of these expenses.

This National Home Policy Never Runs Out

If you were hospitalized today, would you know what your hospital coverage pays? Would you know if your present policies have a maximum benefit... a 1 to 2 year time limit... or any other such limiting features? Because some policies have these limitations... what would a long hospital stay do to your finances?

Our policy, however, pays you cash at the rate of $800.00 a month ($26.67 a day) even for the rest of your life, if need be.

Here's what we pay

(over and above Medicare and all other insurance)

If you're under 65

$800.00 a month—$26.67 a day—when you go to the hospital, starting from the very first day of confinement for any covered accident or illness. Payments continue as long as you are hospitalized—for life if necessary.

—PLUS—

$480.00 a month cash—$16.00 a day—when a covered child (one month through 18 years) goes to the hospital for any covered accident or illness. Payments continue as long as the child is in the hospital.

All your premiums after you, the policyholder, have been confined by a covered hospitalization for 8 weeks in a row. We pay the premiums for your entire family plus your monthly benefits until you leave the hospital. We pay them for life if necessary.

If you're 65 or older $560.00 a month cash—$18.66 a day—when you go to the hospital for any covered accident or illness, starting from the very first day of confinement. Payments continue for three months, then become...

$800.00 a month cash—$26.67 a day—for as long as you're hospitalized—for life if need be.

—PLUS—

$480.00 a month cash—$16.00 a day—when a covered child (one month through 18 years) goes to the hospital—the same benefit as for policyholders under 65.

All your premiums after you, the policyholder have been confined by a covered hospitalization for 8 weeks in a row—the same benefit as for policyholders under 65.

Here's what we don't pay

You are not covered for care in U.S. Government hospitals or nursing, convalescent, rehabilitation or extended care, alcoholic or narcotic facilities, a place for the aged, a tuberculosis sanatorium, or for hospitalizations due to:

Dear Friend:

I wouldn't recommend anything I didn't honestly believe in. And I think National Home's $800.00-a-month plan is just about the best additional insurance protection you can give your family -- especially in these days of rising medical costs.

Having been retained by National Home as a marketing consultant, I've looked over the policy very carefully and am happy to give this plan my wholehearted endorsement.

I've made a point of getting to know the folks at National Home, and you won't find more decent, friendly people.

That's why I cannot imagine anybody passing up the chance to enroll in this health plan.

We all know what a terrible thing it is to be hospitalized. But what a relief it is to know there's extra cash coming in when you need it most! Take my advice. Send the enrollment form below now -- before you forget.

Sincerely,

Art Linkletter

$500.00 A MONTH PLAN ($16.67 A DAY)

Pays 62.5% of the $800.00 a month policy for all benefits.

Coverage for both accident and illness begins the first day in the hospital.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium per Adult
16-44	only $4.15

NOTE: The regular monthly premium shown (for age and time of enrollment) will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled in this National Home plan, your rate will never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—unless there is a general rate adjustment on all policies of this type in your state. We will issue you only one policy of this type.

No catch to these rates

When you see premiums like these, you'd suspect that the policy is full of clauses that make payouts few and far between. This is not the case.

Look high and low through the provisions set forth in the policy. Let your lawyer or insurance agent help. You'll find no unusual exclusions.

Indeed, we feel that this plan's payout provisions are among the most liberal available. For example:

- We pay benefits on Workman's Compensation cases. Many policies don't.
- We pay benefits for life if necessary. Many policies have a 1-year or 2-year limit.
- We pay up to $26.67 a day starting the first day you're hospitalized, and continuing for as long as you stay.
- We continue your insurance regardless of age. Some policies cancel you after a certain age.
- We excuse you from paying premiums when you are hospitalized longer than 8 weeks in a row. Most policies don't.

How then are these rates possible?

This special plan is offered by National Home Assurance Company of New York which is licensed by the State of New York.

We sell insurance by mail. And administer it by mail. And have cut the cost of contacting you down to postage stamp size.

Your neighborhood letter carrier makes it all possible. He delivers more insurance for your money. And you don't even pay him a commission.

Get Started Now

Most important, though, is that it costs nothing to start your coverage for you and your entire family. Simply fill out and mail the official Enrollment Form. When your policy arrives, study it. If you like it, pay the first month's premium within 10 days of its effective date. Then, even if you are hospitalized during your inspection period, your policy will already be in force.

If you decide not to send in your first month's premium within those 10 days, you will not have coverage, and there is no further obligation.

The board resolved to permit a newly legislated method of disposal of obsolete school records take effect in the district, allowing the chief administrator to dispose of records according to guidelines set up by the Commissioner of Education's office.

District resident Beth Mead asked for the services of a "good" school bus and bus driver for use by the school's hiking club. Some problems have been encountered in the students' parents volunteer to help with the 40 youngsters and club advisor John Fish reportedly has offered to resign his post unless a driver can be obtained.

Keefe explained that "we are the only school in the whole world with a mountain club," as the advisor is paid like an athletic coach.

Board Vice-President Robert Bowman said he thought the board had encouraged the club, pointed out the difficulty of obtaining a bus driver for ten or eleven hours in the mountains, and suggested that the students' parents volunteer to help with the 40 youngsters and club advisor John Fish reportedly has offered to resign his post unless a driver can be obtained.

SOCCER BALLS FOR VIETNAM—Big Scot has donated five soccer balls for use by U.S. Army Green Berets in Vietnam. Staff Sergeant Richard Zinkhen wrote his sister-in-law, Mrs. Helen Rominger, requesting the balls; and she contacted U.S. Army Recruiter Sergeant First Class Lloyd Canfield. Canfield checked with Big Scot manager Sanford Kay, and Big Scot willingly made the donation. Shown with the Vietnam-bound soccer balls are (L to R) Kay, Mrs. Rominger, and SFC Canfield. Bentley-Guido Wedding Is Held

MRS. VINCENT R. GUIDO JR.
(Patricia E. Bentley)
(Lakeside Studio)

Miss Patricia Ellen Bentley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Bentley Sr. of East Camp Road, Germantown, became the bride of Vincent R. Guido Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent R. Guido Sr. of 180 Sherry Lane, Kingston.

The Rev. Msgr. Francis P. Brennan officiated at the double ring ceremony which took place at St. Peter's Church on September 30. Ann Goldrick, organist, accompanied Rita Marie Senor who sang traditional wedding selections. Miss Senor is a cousin to the bridegroom. Arrangements of fall flowers decorated the altar and white bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of ivory satin accented with a lace and pearl scalloped neckline, hem and detachable train. Appliques of pearl and lace accented the sleeves and skirt. Her three-tiered, silk illusion veil was attached to a matching Camelot cap. She carried a bridal bouquet of stephanotis with a white hybrid orchid in the middle.

Miss Deborah Ann Bentley of Germantown served as maid of honor for her sister. Attendants were Mrs. Carol Komissaroff of Saugerties, Miss Sandy Dachenhausen of Ruby and Miss Patricia Dachenhausen of Ruby. Flower girl was Miss Dawn

Marie Bentley of Queens Village, who is cousin of the bride. The maid of honor and flower girl were attired in crepe tangerine gowns with ivory lace trimming the high necklines, bodices and sleeves. The attendants' gowns were identical in style except their gowns were moss green with ivory lace trim. They all wore matching Camelot caps with two tiered veils and carried bouquets of orange chrysanthemums and yellow sweet heart roses.

David Guido of Kingston served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Michael Mordovancey of Friendsville, Penn.; Mark Guido, brother of the bridegroom of Kingston; and Louis Komissaroff of Saugerties. Brian Bentley, brother of the bride was junior usher. A reception immediately followed the ceremony at the Hedges in West Park. For her wedding trip to Maine, Nova Scotia and Canada, the bride selected a navy and plaid pants suit with leather accessories and a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Guido is a 1969 graduate of Saugerties High School and is employed by the Heritage Savings Bank. Her husband is a 1970 graduate of the Kingston High School and attended Delhi State University where he majored in construction technology. They will reside in their new home in Marbeltown.

Marlene Perez Is Wed

Marlene Alberta Perez of Kerhonkson exchanged nuptial vows with Mario Martin Aversano of Kerhonkson on Saturday, Sept. 16 at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Kerhonkson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Perez of Kerhonkson. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Aversano of Kerhonkson.

The Rev. Father Hamilton officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected a gown of satin-faced organza fashioned with an empire bodice and abbreviated puffed sleeves. Re-embroidered Alencon lace and applied seed pearls created a bib effect on the bodice. The gown featured a chapel length train. She wore a custom designed camelot cap in matching lace accented with seed pearls to which was shirred her triple-tiered, chapel-length silk illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of carnations and daisies.

Barbara Bradford of Kerhonkson was honor attendant. Other attendants were Ellen Jane Aversano, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Beverly Kortright, both of Kerhonkson; Kathy Keen of Monticello.

Attendants were gowned alike in scarlet chiffon styled with high necklines, fitted bodices and long tapered sheer sleeves. They wore bow and streamer details in their hair. The honor attendant carried a bouquet of pink roses, white carnations and daisies. The other attendants carried multi-colored bouquets of cornflowers, daisies roses and carnations.

Kathy Hernandez and Elaine Mazzella served as flower girls. They wore multi-colored, French crepe gowns and carried baskets of pink roses and white carnations.

MRS. MARIO M. AVERSANO
(Marlene A. Perez)
(Fitzgerald Studio)

Albert Aversano of Kerhonkson was best man for his brother. Ushers were Frank Knowlton Jr., High Falls; Paul Perez, brother of the bride, Kerhonkson; Daniel Aversano, brother of the bridegroom, Kerhonkson; Israel Hernandez Jr., of South Fallsburgh was ringbearer.

A reception was given at Walnut Grove in Kingston. The bride, a graduate of Rondout Valley High School, is assistant manager at Katz's Bake Shop in Monticello. Her husband, also an alumnus of Rondout Valley High School, is proprietor of Aversano's Delicatessen in Kerhonkson. When they return from their wedding trip to Mexico, they will reside at Kerhonkson.

10th Anniversary Slated for Family Organization

The Dutch Ackerman (originally AkkerMan) family organization, "David Ackerman Descendants — 1662," will celebrate its 10th anniversary on Saturday, Oct. 21 at Old Paramus Church in Ridgewood, N. J.

A special "First Decade Membership Roundup" is being conducted in connection with the anniversary reunion.

Anyone who thinks he may have ancestral Ackerman roots is urged to contact Samuel B. Ackerman, membership chairman, at International Headquarters, 1 Rich Court, Hohokus, N. J. Complete data concerning one's lineage is not always necessary as Ackerman genealogical records may be able to supply the missing information.

The Old Paramus Church, an early Dutch Reformed Church and a Revolutionary landmark, was the "birthplace" of the association in 1962, when 170 descendants gathered for the first time in an organizing session, to mark the 300th anniversary of the arrival in Nieuw Amsterdam of their common progenitor, David — the stalwart schoolmaster from Berlicum in Holland.

With David came his wife, Lysbeth and their six children. His four sons later left the city and moved westward across the Hudson River, acquiring farms in the Province of East Jersey — in what is now Bergen County. There three of the sons built quaint brown sandstone homes on their acreage as well as tidewater mills for grinding wheat and corn and processing lumber. The house built by son David at River Edge near Hackensack became a State Historic Site in 1928 and was officially named the "Ackerman-Zabriskie-Von Steuben House" at a state-sponsored dedication ceremony, in 1967.

At the present time D.A.D. has a membership of more than 600 lineal descendants of the Dutch schoolmaster, scattered throughout the United States and Canada. An active committee of these members has been conducting intensive research during this first decade to increase the fund of historical and genealogical data concerning early Dutch families in America and their respective contributions to the development of America and the enrichment of American life. In the course of this research the organization has documented the fact that Thomas Alva Edison, the inventor, Theodore Newton Vail, the first president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and William K. Ackerman, president of the Illinois Central Railroad from 1877-1883, were among the thousands of known descendants of the schoolmaster, David.

Auxiliary Honors Accorded Anna Coons

A testimonial dinner was given Saturday, Sept. 23 by Red Hook Auxiliary No. 7765, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in honor of Anna Coons, department president.

Mrs. Coons, a charter member of the Auxiliary, served as its president from 1949 to 1951, and was county president in 1954-55. She also served as District No. 2 president in 1959-60. In June, 1967, she was elected department guard and continued through the offices until June 1972, when she was named department president. A U.S. Saving Bond was presented to Mrs. Coons.

Guest speaker was Mary Cottone, past national president. Guests included Department Commander and Mrs. Earl Stock Jr.; Florence Taylor, National Council member; and Julie Lane, past department president.

Approximately 17 elective and appointed department officers attended the event along with 12 department chairmen.

Just Hand the Man A Pair of Shorts!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who is 54 years old, weighs 240 pounds has a belly that looks like a pregnant woman ready to deliver, and walks around the house naked as a newborn baby?

I think it's revolting! I don't mind that he sleeps in the nude, but waltzing around the house without a stitch is really too much! Yes I know we have had a hot summer, but if I can stand it, he can stand it, and we do have fans in every room.

A woman once complained to you because her husband came to the table bare from the waist up. Well she doesn't know how lucky she is!

Print this in your column, Abby. Maybe "El Lardo" will get the hint.

TURNED OFF IN PENNA.

DEAR TURNED: A hint won't help. Hand "El Lardo" a pair of shorts and tell him to put 'em on!

DEAR ABBY: I am 31, single and female. I recently moved to this large city where I know practically no one. Grace, a college friend, called me long distance and gave me the number of an eligible gentleman who lives here. Hes' a friend of Grace's husband and is supposed to be super special.

They said they already called the gentleman and told him to expect a call from me.

Question: Is it proper (and wise) for me to call him? Altho I am not very well acquainted here I don't want him to think I am desperate for a man and am chasing him.

I wish I had thought to tell Grace to give the gentleman MY number and have him call ME. Should I call Grace back and ask her to do that? I don't want to appear ungrateful, but I'm not accustomed to calling men. What should I do?

ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: Since the arrangements have already been made, call the gentleman, and don't make a federal case out of it. And the next time a similar situation arises, ask the go-between to please have the gentleman call YOU.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 years old and receive an allowance each week for "spending money," as I cannot work yet.

I have saved up enough money to buy a record player. It is a small model with two speakers, and costs $39.95. Before I can buy anything with my own money I have to get permission from my parents. When I asked about the record player, my mother consented, but my father did not, because we already have two record players in the house. One is in the living room and I have to get permission from my parents to use it. Most of the time they say no. The other one belongs to my older sister and I was told not to touch it, so I don't.

Abby, do you see any reason why I shouldn't be able to purchase a record player with my own money for my own personal use?

"STEREOLESS"

DEAR STEREOLESS: Two questions: How are your grades? Are you taking music lessons? If your grades are above average, after you've finished your homework, (and if you're taking music lessons, after you've practiced) you should be allowed to listen to stereo music to your heart's content. And since you've saved your spending money, I see no reason why you shouldn't be permitted to buy your own stereo.

DEAR ABBY: Just read that a husband was granted a divorce because his wife hadn't taken a bath for three years.

I would like to exchange with him. My wife hasn't stopped talking and complaining for thirty years. I figure I could stand the smell a lot better than I can stand the noise. Sign me.

YWCA Schedules Several Bus Trips

The YWCA schedule of bus trips has two more trips listed for this season. The next one will be to Hartford, Conn., on Saturday. Hartford is a center of culture and industry. Points of interest on the day's itinerary include the chapel at Trinity College, St. Joseph's Cathedral and the Wadsworth Athenaeum.

The Chapel at Trinity is an outstanding example of Gothic in this country. St. Joseph's Cathedral is a striking contemporary structure which is noted for the 26 stained glass windows that line the hall.

The Wadsworth Athenaeum is one of the nation's leading art museums. In a recent year it was closed for a period of several months after which it was opened with new and original displays showing the object of art to better advantage.

For lunch there will be a choice of two restaurants in West Hartford.

The bus will leave the YW at 9:30 and return at 5:30.

If sufficient interest is shown, the trip to Schenectady to see David Allen will be rescheduled.

Food Tips

Putting bread in the refrigerator during humid weather will keep it fresh longer.

Put a little sugar in the boiling water before dropping in ears of corn.

Empty the toaster's crumb tray regularly.

Next time you make a pumpkin chifon pie, add a little grated orange rind along with the spices.

FIELDING QUESTIONS from the audience at the Nurses Heart Symposium are (L-R) Miss Patricia Jones, M.A., New York Hospital; Miss Rose Pinneo, M.S., Strong Memorial Hospital; Mrs. Florence Irwin, M.A., Ulster County Community College and Miss Maryann Pranulis, M.S.N., Yale University School of Nursing.

Nurses' Symposium Given Here

"The nurse's ability to deal with anxiety can do much to reduce the risk of dangerous complications for the post-coronary patient," advised Maryann Pranulis, MSN., Assistant Professor at Yale University School of Nursing to an audience of 175 nurses and students at the Eighth Nurses Heart Symposium.

The teaching day was held at Ulster County Community College recently, sponsored by the Ulster County Community College Department of Nursing Education and the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, Inc.

Other speakers were Patricia Jones, M.A., discussing Stages of Healing; Rose Pinneo, M.S., Progressing from Special to General Care; Marge Scherer, P.H.N., The Cardiac Patient at Home; and Frederic W.

Holcomb, Jr., M.D., on Back to Work Experiences.

Dr. Holcomb reported some very encouraging findings from a survey of employees of IBM, where he is Medical Director. More than 81 per cent of those who recover from heart attack are able to return to the same job as before within months of the first attack.

Nurses from Columbia, Greene and Ulster Counties attended the sessions.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE

LOVE... HONOR... AND DO THE LAUNDRY

Dear Heloise:
I just have to tell you about the gift my mother gave at a wedding shower for her niece.

First, she bought a small, personal-sized wicker clothesbasket (although it could be plastic). She also bought a length of plastic clothesline and a package of clothespins.

Then, since the shower was personal, she bought four matching sets of bras and pants in pastel colors — four pair of pastel panty hose, a set of baby doll p.j.s., a lacy bouffant curler cap and a few chiffon scarves.

She strung out the fifty feet of line and at intervals clothes-pinned on the items, alternating the items and colors until the whole line was full.

She fed this into the basket, which was lined with plastic, and wrapped the whole basket in a couple yards of nylon net and tied it with a bow and artificial flowers.

When my cousin opened it she passed one end of the line to a helper and kept feeding her the line which stretched across the room with all the garments hanging.

It was really the hit of the party and my cousin was so pleased.

Besides the garments, my cousin had a basket, line and pins for personal washing plus a few yards of nylon net.

KAREN

Dear Heloise:

With a large number of wedding reception invitations to seal and stamp recently, and no moistener to dampen the glued surfaces, we hit on this wonderful idea.

We used a moistened paint roller to do the job. (The handle was clamped to a table with a "D" clamp.)

We would roll the glued edge of the envelope flap and the stamps over the roller, which did a beautiful job of moistening.

A small cream pitcher of water was used to pour water on the roller as needed.

And the chore was soon accomplished.

MARIBEN ASHBY

LETTER OF THOUGHT

Dear Heloise:
Yesterday is like a canceled check, tomorrow is like a promissory note:
So let's make the most of —today.

CHUCK NANCE

Dear Heloise:

The covers from spray cans are a favorite for making tray-favors.

So many service clubs use them seasonably for Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter and other special days.

They are taken to rest homes and hospitals. Some of the covers already are pretty pastel-colored, and they spray-paint others.

They place floral clay in the bottom of the top and insert artificial flowers appropriate to the season.

They are inexpensive and yet so attractive.

Love,
DORIS MENDES

Dear Heloise:

When removing buttons with a single-edged razor blade, I slip a thin comb between the button and the fabric.

This is insurance against a slip.

27th Season Opens For Pro Cagers

By ALEX SACHARE Associated Press Sports Writer

The National Basketball Association opens its 27th season tonight—with Wilt Chamberlain, but apparently without Willis Reed, Bob Rule, Archie Clark and Lennie Wilkens; with Kansas City-Omaha, but without Cincinnati; and with Rick Barry, but without Billy Cunningham and Julius Erving.

Chamberlain, the 7-foot-2 veteran who led the Lakers to the NBA championship last season, resolved his contractual difficulties with Los Angeles Monday and may be ready for the Lakers' season opener Wednesday night.

Eight NBA teams begin their 82-game schedules tonight. The New York Knicks, beaten by Los Angeles in the 1971-72 championship finals, host Seattle, while Philadelphia is at Chicago. Atlanta plays at Buffalo and Baltimore opens at Cleveland.

The Lakers open defense of their NBA championship in Omaha the following night against the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, the franchise which was shifted from Cincinnati after last season. Other NBA clubs open later in the week.

The American Basketball Association schedule begins Thursday night, with the defending champion Indian Pacers visiting Memphis to play the newly-renamed Tams. Also Thursday, Carolina meets Virginia at Richmond and Denver is at Utah. Other teams open play Friday and Saturday.

Chamberlain, who still had a year to go on his $250,000-a-year, two-year contract, had sought to have the pact renegotiated. However, a settlement apparently has been reached but details as to the amount or length of the contract were not disclosed.

Reed, the 6-10 center who led the Knicks to the NBA championship in 1969-70 but has been bothered by tendonitis in his knees the past two years, suffered a thigh bruise in pre-season training and was placed on the disabled list Monday. He'll miss at least the Knicks' first five games, being eligible to return Oct. 21.

Rule and Clark are having contract problems. Clark is reportedly asking upwards of $300,000 a year from the Baltimore Bullets, while Rule wants a hefty pay hike from the Philadelphia 76ers.

Wilkens, traded from Seattle to Cleveland in the off-season, has thus far refused to report, saying he wanted to remain on the West Coast.

Barry, the only player to win the scoring championship in both the NBA and the ABA, is back in the NBA with the Golden State Warriors. Last season he led the New York Nets to the ABA championship finals against Indiana, but a summer court order forbade him from playing with any team but the Warriors, his original NBA club.

Cunningham, an all-star with Philadelphia last year, was returned by court order—to the Carolina Cougars of the ABA, with whom he signed a contract a year ago, before signing another contract with Philadelphia.

Erving, an all-star as a rookie with Virginia of the ABA last season, signed a contract with the NBA Atlanta Hawks in the off-season. But Milwaukee selected Erving in the NBA draft, and Commissioner Walter Kennedy ruled Erving be longed to the Bucks.

Finally, a court judge ruled that if Erving plays for anybody, it will have to be Virginia.

Highland Nips OCS

By CHARLES J. TIANO Sports Editor

BOICEVILLE The game was played in a Goddard setting of sun, shine, semi-darkness, rain and snow flurries and Highland High made the only conversion of the miserable October afternoon stand up for a 14-12 Uster County Athletic League football victory over home-standing Ontario High here Monday.

A 20-yard off tackle slant by Tony Casciero in the third period nailed down the victory for Coach Lem Atkins of the Highlanders and left both teams with fractured records for the season. Highland is now 2-1-1, the Indians 1-2-1.

"We beat a good ball club," said Coach Lem Atkins of the Highlanders. "We had a much improved offense, managed to sustain a couple of drives, executed better and got better blocking."

Ontario Coach Larry Karas, thought the Indians might have unconsciously let down after their superb performance against Red Hook last week.

"I don't think we did too well on defense," he said. "And the key of the game may have been our failure to hold Highland after we scored those two quick touchdowns in the third quarter."

Quarterback John Gersch's run up the middle for a 2-point conversion after Highland's first touchdown was the key to the victory.

Ontario bounced back in the third quarter to score on a pitchout to John Phelan, who bulled his way over from the 19 carrying a few defenders with him. He was stopped in his bid for a 2 pointer through the middle.

The Indians held Highland after the kickoff and moved 46 yards in eight plays, with Phelan bolting up from the 12. Grant Cormack's kick for the extra point was wide.

Highland repulsed two Ontario drives in the fourth quarter, one at the 3, the other at the 20.

Coach Atkins singled out Tony Casciero for an excellent defensive game at linebacker, also Tom Gindera and Tom Rizzo, defensive end.

"They tested us on the outside and we held up well," said Atkins. "It was a tough game and we were happy to win it."

Pirates Call on Doc Ellis

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates are going to steal a leaf from the book of the Cincinnati Reds and try to win the National League pennant today with the help of a sore arm pitcher—Doc Ellis.

The Pirates hope they have better luck than the Reds. Cincinnati pinned its hopes Monday on the ailing right arm of Gary Nolan, but the pressure of going all-out against the power-packed Pittsburgh lineup took its toll.

Nolan could manage only six innings. His arm stiffened and he left with a one-run lead that the Pirates overcame to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five pennant playoff.

"I went as hard as I could for as long as I could," said the dejected Nolan, who had pitched 15 innings since the All-Star Game in July. "I just ran out of gas. I couldn't afford to continue."

Ellis' story is almost a carbon copy. The 27-year-old right-hander has a chronic pitching elbow condition. He went six innings Sept. 30 but it was his first start since Sept. 13.

The Pirates' 3-2 victory Monday was keyed by outfielder Rennie Stennett and catcher Manny Sanguillen and relief pitcher Bruce Kison. Ever-reliable Dave Giusti came on to check the Reds' big bats after Pittsburgh wiped out a 2-0 Cincinnati lead.

Stennett made the first big play. Cincinnati's Johnny Bench tripled leading off the fourth. The Reds already led 2-0 and it looked as if they were out to get another run.

Pirates' starter Nelson Briles got Tony Perez on a nice, running back to the plate catch in short left by shortstop Gene Alley. He then walked Denis Menke. The Reds now had runners at the corners with one out. Cesar Geronimo hit a fly ball to Stennett in left, and the outfielder gunned down Bench trying to score after the catch. It was a perfect one-bounce, on-the-money throw to Sanguillen.

"That beat us," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, who still insisted the playoff would go five games. "I thought that was the turning point of the game, murmured Anderson. "Our report was that Stennett had a better-than-average arm, but wasn't that accurate."

Stennett's throw seemed to fire the Pirates. A half-inning later, Sanguillen socked a pitch over the left-centerfield fence for a home run to make it 2-1.

"When I left the dugout, someone warned me to look for cure all," recalled Sanguillen. "I said, 'No, I'll look for fast balls.'"

Pittsburgh tied it in the seventh off relievers Pedro Borbon and Clay Carroll when Richie Hebner was hit by a pitch. Sanguillen singled and Gene Alley sacrificed to place runners at second and third. Pinch-hitter Vic Davalillo was intentionally walked. Stennett then rapped a run-scoring single.

In the eighth, Willie Stargell walked and Al Oliver doubled. Hebner was purposely passed to load the bases.

Sanguillen hit a sharp ground-in toward the hole between short and third that Cincinnati's Darrell Chaney reached and tried for a second-to-first doubleplay. Sanguillen, however, beat the relay and the winning run scored.

Was This Game for Real?

HOUSTON (AP) — It's good before 51,278 in the Astrodome that the Houston-Oakland pro football game was on national television Monday night—you'd have to see it to believe it.

Quarterback Daryle Lamoni finally got Oakland rolling had left in disgust at the per- and 27 yards and George Blanda, a former Oiler, kicked the TV audience. The Astro- two field goals in a 34-0 rout.

calls came in from as far away first in the AFC in pass defense, blasting everything from the Oilers to the television commentary.

The Oilers, getting their first chance at the Monday night spectacle since 1970, got a se- verely case of stage fright and stuttered to only 69 yards in we have to do is settle down way. Oakland Coach John Madden said, "On offense, so many untimely things happened to us. They had a good pass rush. They went all out."

Field goals of 46 and 35 yards by Blanda and a 16-yard touchdown pass to Fred Biletni- koff gave Oakland a 13-0 lead going into the fourth quarter when the bottom fell out on the Oilers.

Lamonica hit rookie Mike Siani for a 27-yard TD to open the last period and inter- ceptions by Nemiah Wilson and Otis Sistrunk set up the final two TDs—a 14-yard run by Clarence Davis and a two-yard pass from Ken Stabler to tight end Bob Moore.

The last two TDs were only 29 seconds apart.

Typical of the Oilers' performance was the second quarter when defensive end Greg Sampson fell on an Oakland fumble at the Raider two-yard line.

Instead of taking it in, the Oilers lost 15 yards on two plays and had an attempted field goal blocked by Art Thoms, who also intercepted a pass.

Auburn Is Climbing

NEW YORK (UPI) —When All Americans Pat Sullivan and Terry Beasley graduated last Spring, Auburn's '72 football hopes looked none too bright—at least to the pollsters, writers and other so-called "experts".

But somebody forgot to tell the Tigers' defensive unit and this week, after four straight victories, coach Shug Jordan's club landed at No. 9 in the football ratings of the United Press International Board of Coaches. The leap into the top 10 was the biggest jump for any team as last week the Tigers were 14th.

It wasn't easy though. First Auburn had to knock off unbeaten and nationally ranked Tennessee and then last week they dropped Mississippi from the undefeated ranks. In four games, however, it's the Tigers' defense that has shined, limiting the opposition to just 29 points. Still another test looms this week though when they travel to Baton Rouge, La. for a meeting with the 8th-rated Bayou Bengals of LSU.

Southern California was once again No. 1, but not by as wide a margin as last week. The Trojans, who struggled past Stanford 30-21, nailed down 21 first place votes and 333 points while idle Oklahoma got 13 first place votes and 324 points.

The Sooners were joined in the top 20 by their (by now) usual Big Eight mates Nebraska (5th), Iowa State (14th) and Colorado (16th). But, giving that conference yet a fifth Michigan.

nationally-rated team this week is Oklahoma State, which cracked the top 20 for the first time in history at No. 19.

"This is a tremendous honor for our school and will provide a great incentive to our team," elated Oklahoma State coach Dave Smith said when informed of his club's new national ranking. Smith was also honored last week as UPI's coach of the week after Oklahoma State stunned Colorado 31-6.

The only other changes in the top 10 were at No. 7 where Notre Dame exchanged places with LSU and at No. 10 where Washington slipped back a notch to make way for Auburn. Otherwise it was once again Alabama (3rd), followed by Ohio State, Nebraska, and Michigan.

Coleman Tiger Hope

DETROIT (AP) — Right-hander Joe Coleman had the job of keeping Detroit's hopes alive as Oakland aimed for a sweep today in the American League playoffs.

The A's, who took the first two games in the best-of-five series, countered with left-hander Ken Holtzman. An Oakland victory would advance the A's into the World Series against the National League champion.

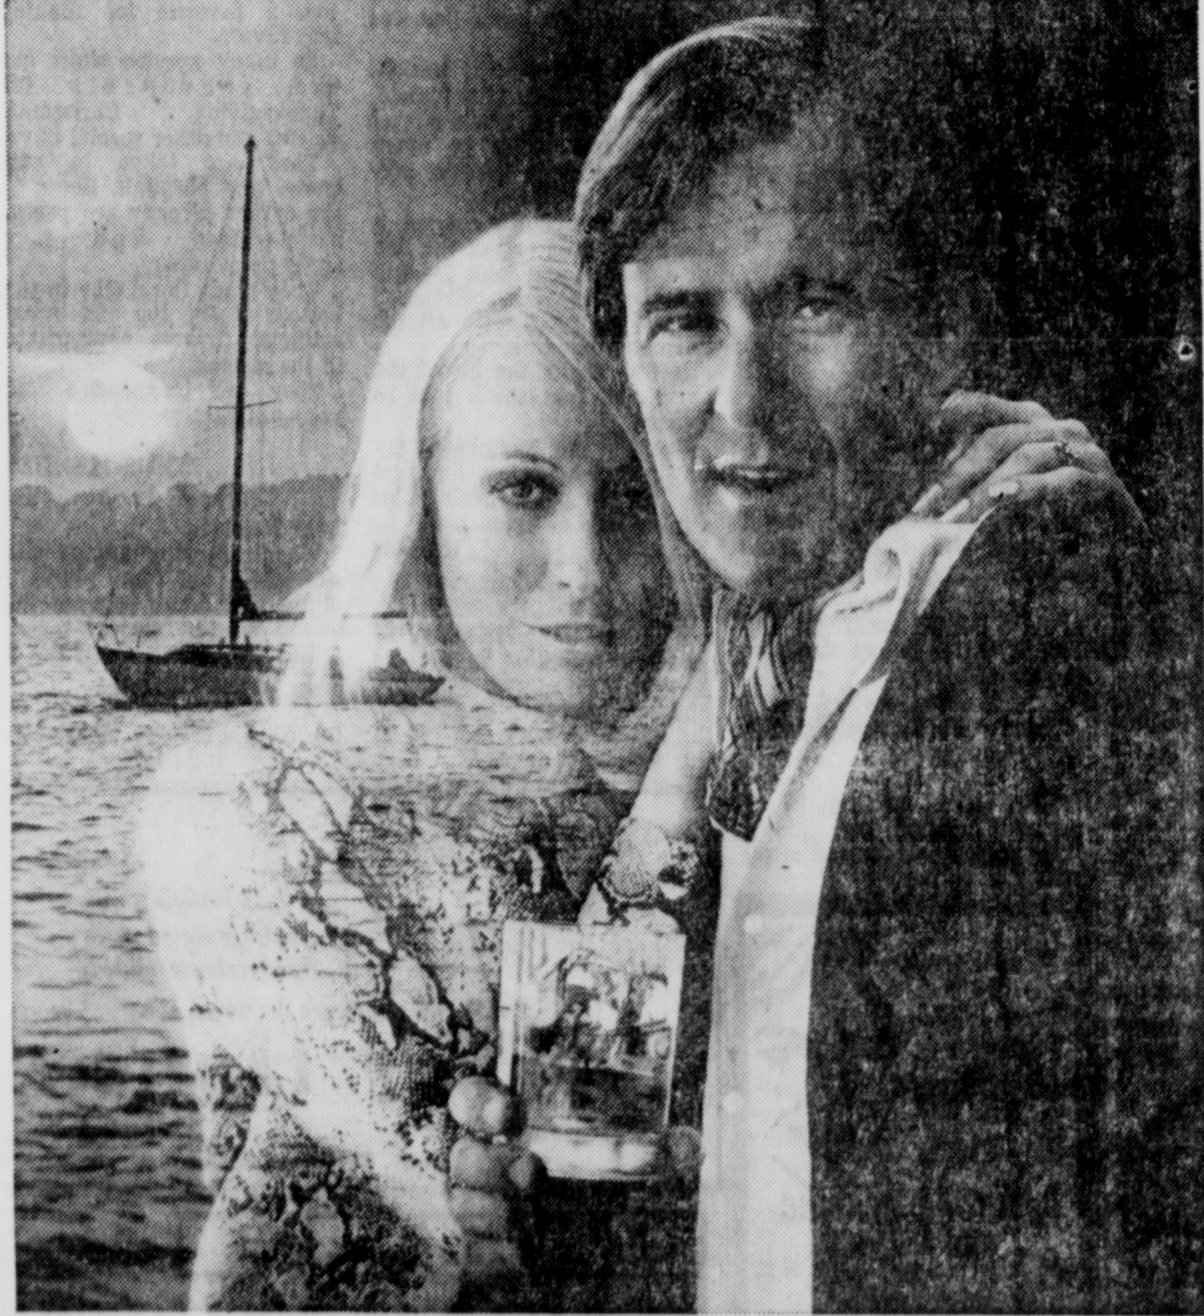

The Tigers, facing elimination, remained confident of a comeback.

"If we win tomorrow," said Manager Billy Martin at Monday's workout, "we'll win three in a row. We've always risen up to the situation before and we can do it again."

Martin and the Tigers got one piece of good news before their workout. They learned that Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris had been suspended from the remainder of the playoffs and fined $500 for hurling his bat at Tiger pitcher Lerrin LaGrow in Sunday's game.

"Good," exclaimed Martin. "That's what he had coming."

Martin had led a Tiger charge out of the dugout after the A's speedy shortstop was hit by a pitch and responded by heaving his bat. It took three umpires to keep the Tiger skipper away from Campaneris.

Kickers Gain Tie For League Lead

MORGAN HILL, who are available for home and road games." Pratt also could have pointed to the acquisition of several outstanding newcomers, among them Gianfranco LoBuglio of Palermo, Italy, who had hoped to play for Ulster County Community College before it was found he is ineligible.

The Kickers' personable PR man also could have mentioned goalie Carl Peter Menzildian, Frank Hennen, David La Sota and Gunter Kirschstein, all newcomers to the Kicker lineup.

Kirschstein scored two of the three goals against Colombiana — the first one at 30 minutes with an assist from Gino Ventriglia. On the second, he timed a corner kick from Jimmy Reinhardt with precision and headed it into the net. Then Kirschstein assisted Ventriglia on the Kickers' second goal at the 35-minute mark.

Sam Gomez and Jim Reyes produced the two Colombiana second half goals.

Suddenly, the revamped Kingston Sport Club Kickers find themselves in a battle with an old foe — Poughkeepsie — for League Division honors in the German-American Soccer Association.

The Kickers made it three out of four in the infant 1972-73 season Sunday in New York with a convincing 3-2 victory over Colombiana. Poughkeepsie, formerly known as Blue and White, crushed Stamford at home, 6-1.

Kingston and Poughkeepsie share the league lead with identical 3-1 records and 6-2 points each, according to the formula used by the German-American Football Association.

Harry Pratt, the Kickers' public relations man, may have put his finger on the reason for the team's resurgence in the League division.

"We decided to use only those players who put the team above everything else," said Pratt. "We don't want or need any prima donnas. We want players

Controversial F111... Some Different Opinions

WASHINGTON (AP) — To its critics, the F111 is a fiasco. To the men who fly it, it's the greatest airplane ever built. Formerly known as the TFX, for tactical fighter-experimental, the F111 has been steeped in controversy from its birth 10 years ago to its return to combat earlier this month.

Robert S. McNamara, President John F. Kennedy's secretary of Defense, conceived it as the most sophisticated, flexible, economical airplane yet devised—a single weapons system capable of performing the most divergent missions of both Navy and Air Force.

But in the past decade: —After spending more than $200 million, the Navy canceled its version of the F111, concluding it was impractical to use on aircraft carriers.

—In six years of operations, 23 F111s crashed killing 17 crewmen and leaving eight others missing.

—The Air Force, finding it impractical as a "dogfighter" against enemy MIGs because of its wide turning radius, assigned it primarily as a low-level, all-weather attack bomber.

A "fiasco," declared the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee in a 1970 report on the TFX.

The swing-wing F111s were given a brief combat test in Indochina in 1968. But after 55 missions they were brought home. Of six initially sent over, three crashed, including two which vanished mysteriously without a trace.

A number of mechanical and structural flaws forced the Air Force to ground the planes on a number of occasions since then.

Despite the losses, the Air Force contends that on more than 200,000 hours of flight operations, the F111s have compiled a better safety record than any other American-built supersonic aircraft.

When the U.S. resumed bombing of North Vietnam last spring, the Air Force was anxious to return the planes to combat and prove their worth. Pentagon leaders, after some initial hesitation, ordered two squadrons to Thailand this month.

Within hours of their arrival, three of the aircraft took off on night bombing runs over North Vietnam. One never came back, disappearing without a trace.

The Pentagon went to great pains last week to reaffirm its confidence in the plane.

Pilots who have flown the F111 say it represents a technological advance over any other plane now flying, and they say it will prove itself to be a good combat aircraft.

"There's no other airplane in the world that can do what the F111 can," said one pilot. "You have to fly it to appreciate it. In my experience covering 20 years in fighters, this is the finest aircraft I've had my hands on."

What's so special about the plane? For one thing, its movable wings extended at right angles enable it to take off and land at low speeds on short runways, or loiter in the sky for long periods.

Perhaps the F111's most revolutionary feature is its terrain following radar, enabling a computer to follow a map of the earth, at night or day, in any weather, and guide the aircraft without the pilot touching the controls.

Your Horoscope

Wednesday, October 11

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Very surprising and startling events can occur today, largely because almost everyone gets an idea and has no patience or thought to think it out intelligently but wants action without necessary preparation. Take time to view all factors of this situation and to gain right perspective.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Make an appointment to see that new contact instead of just barging in, or you meet with instant opposition. Study a new plan well if you want it to be a success. Don't take anything for granted — be sure.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Exercise self-control and study all those money and other matters well so you know just how to handle them successfully. Forcing mate to go along with your spontaneous ideas is not good. Use diplomacy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Gentle prodding is best if you feel that associates are not carrying their fair share of workload, and then you find all improves. An outsider is going against you. Handle this matter diplomatically.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Although you are not in the mood to get all that work done that is important, take a little exercise and delve right into it. Then all works out successfully. Not a good day for making changes in wardrobe.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You need the right kind of recreation today but make sure it is not too expensive, then you raise lagging spirits. A word of encouragement to mate brings fine results. Show you are loyal, true.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Using your temper at home is not good, but doing something constructive about the situation there is fine. An opportunity presents itself to prove your ingenuity in the face of an emergency. Use good common sense, judgement.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Don't deliberate so much over shopping and appointments you want to make that you get nothing done at all. Attend to these early and all is fine. Show good friends, neighbors that you really appreciate them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Stop worrying about what cannot be helped and get busy with that plan that will give you more of this world's goods. Study how one who is most successful did it and follow along such lines yourself. However, add an original touch of your own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Know what your own hopes and desires are and be sure to weed out those that are unacceptable. Gad about in a social way and gain results thusly, in p.m. Forget long gabfests on the phone. Use time wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You have some wise plan in mind that needs only the advice of an expert to iron out the kinks, and then you can put in fine operation yourself. Don't come out with rash comments that could alienate good associates. Think before you speak.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Find a better way to gain own aims of a personal nature and get the cooperation of good pals by being cooperative yourself. Don't come out with rash comments that could alienate good associates. Think before you speak.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): If you are objective with higher-ups, you find you can accomplish much in your community later and have more harmony at home as well. Pay that bill about which you are being pressured. Show you are a cheerful person.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: ...he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will always have something to say and very likely will put the cart before the horse if not taught early to think well before coming out with comments of any kind, or to plan well before tackling any job. Be sure to teach this early and then send to right schools where this articulate youngster can make the most of the fine talents deep in the subconscious in this chart. Much work in foreign lands denoted.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PEST: (Q.) I'll get right to the point. I like Chuck and Chuck likes me. But every time we get together here comes Kay and makes a pest of herself. Chuck and I can't say a word to each other.

Whether it is in the daytime at school or at night when Chuck comes over, Kay is always there. If you don't help me get rid of her I think I'll scream.—No Privacy in North Carolina

(A.) One day when Chuck is not around tell Kay, girl to girl, that she is bugging you. Be friendly but firm with her. Sometimes a girl has to be blunt. You have a reason to be.

RULES: (Q.) My mother thinks I am too young to like a boy. She is giving me a hard way to go. She limits my conversation on the phone with my boy friend to 15 minutes. She doesn't know we go together, and I don't plan to tell her as tight as she is on me.

She and my father want to get to know him better but they won't let him come over nor will they let me date him. We only see each other twice a week at church. What should I do? Both of us are 15.—Hemmed In in Washington, D.C.

(A.) Fifteen minutes is enough time on the telephone. I urge you to let this rule stand as it is and not complain about it.

But do all you can to help your parents to know your boyfriend better. Introduce him to them at church. Sit with him and them in a group if possible. Invite his parents to sit with you too.

As they get to know him close up, your chances of having him as a guest at home and later as a date alone should increase greatly.

Both of you are old enough for this step. It is your job to convince your mother of that. Holding off and being secretive will hurt you more than it will help you.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001)

WHY WE SAY

HOCUS POCUS

MAGIC: These two words are supposed to be important in the performance of magic. Oddly enough, there once was a magician named Hocus Redus in Scandinavian mythology. Hocus Pocus is said to be just a variation of his name.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

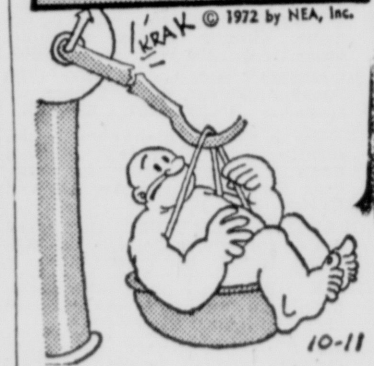

The coyote or prairie wolf is native to North and Central America. Coyotes' keen senses and fast speed enable them to adapt quickly to changing conditions and allow them to survive despite the settling of much of their former habitats. The World Almanac notes. Though coyotes sometimes kill domestic animals they are valuable because they destroy many rodents.

England Has Radio Times

NEW YORK (AP) — America may have its TV Guide, but England shall always have its Radio Times. No matter that half the program listings concern television and have for some time now.

and David Susskind, among other things.

At that hour on one of the BBC's two channels, Londoners were whooping it up with "Meditation," hosted by Simon Twiggell and described as "a programme, mainly of silence, for the end of the day."

Then he meets old Mr. Prodhurst, and his horse, 'Old Gladiator,' and everything is suddenly different."

Just after 4:30 p.m. the next day, we had to put up with Mike Douglas and assorted old movies. I would have given an arm to watch the BBC offering Robbie Vincent's feast of pop, with competitions, supermums, records and things. Dedications, Please, at 493-5401.

Stick around until 2:20 p.m. You'll get "On the Move," news and views for Londoners who earn their living by driving lorries, taxis or buses."

Other Red Units Surrounded Near Saigon

S. Viets Rout Viet Cong Guerrillas

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops Monday routed Viet Cong guerrillas from a hamlet only 15 miles north of Saigon and the Communists controlled 14 hamlets north of Saigon and a senior American advisor said today the claim was "accurate."

Field reports said fighting flared today just outside Thanh Quy, a hamlet 10 miles north of the capital recaptured by Communist control and that a fourth, Thanh Phuoc Khanh, about 15 miles from the capital, was reoccupied late Monday.

In Cambodia, the high command said today Communist troops overran six government positions within 50 miles of Phnom Penh in their deepest penetration into the Mekong Delta in 2½ years of war.

Other guerrillas bombarded Phnom Penh's airport with 122mm rockets in an apparent effort to disrupt the second anniversary of the designation of Cambodia as a republic.

Military spokesmen said at least four other Cambodian strongholds as close as 20 miles to the capital came under "heavy shelling attacks" and may have to be evacuated.

U.S. war planes Monday lashed North Vietnam with more than 330 air strikes, but B52 bombers carried out only two missions over the North.

Air Force and Navy tactical bomber pilots attacked the Thanh Hoa army base one mile southeast of the big port for the first time in the war and reported at least three buildings destroyed, spokesmen said.

Other planes destroyed the Vinh railroad bridge only half a mile outside that port city of 200,000.

The Navy said A7 Corsair pilots heavily damaged the Thai Binh Army base 136 miles southeast of the port of Haiphong, North Vietnam's second largest city.

On the diplomatic front in Saigon, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth C. Bunker conferred for 45 minutes today with President Nguyen Van Thieu at the Presidential Palace. It was their third meeting in a week and political observers speculated that it concerned the peace talks in Paris.

The U.S. command ordered five overnight B52 bomber strikes around Saigon, the closest 24 miles north of the city. Two B52 strikes hit North Vietnam 15 miles west of the southernmost port of Dong Ho, 38 miles above the DMZ, spokesmen said.

Hanoi Radio said three U.S. planes were shot down in Monday's raids over the North but no losses were reported by the U.S. command in Saigon.

Confrontation on Spending Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A historic confrontation between President Nixon and Congress over control of the federal purse is shaping up in the debate on the $250-billion spending limit Nixon seeks.

The President personally led what a White House spokesman called an intensive weekend lobbying effort to win the initial House vote, scheduled late today, in a spending-limit fight that could delay the adjournment of Congress.

Nixon promised in a nationwide political radio broadcast Saturday that his "spending ceiling would be absolute insurance that no new taxes will be required."

He did not put that particular statement in a time reference, though at another point in the speech, he said, "My goal is not only no tax increase in 1973, but no tax increase in the next four years."

The spending ceiling Nixon has proposed would apply only to the present fiscal year which began last July 1.

House Speaker Carl Albert said it would be "the biggest mistake of this century" for Congress to approve Nixon's proposal to give him unrestricted authority to decide which federal programs to cut to meet the $250-billion limit.

House leaders support an alternative that would authorize the President to recommend program cuts for a $250-billion limit but leave the final decision on whether to approve them to Congress.

"This is the biggest assault a president has ever made in peacetime on the legislative authority of the Congress of the United States," Albert said.

The cuts would trim the $250 million already approved by Congress. Other appropriations measures for the current year are pending.

But Nixon's advisers argued during congressional hearings that Congress failed in past efforts to limit spending because its 535 members cannot agree on which programs to cut.

The President also personally urged congressional leaders at a regular meeting last week to accept his proposal, the White House aide told newsmen Monday.

Further, he said, businessmen, particularly in home-building and related industries, lobbied congressmen in their districts across the country over the weekend to accept the President's proposal.

High Court Refuses Death Penalty Rehearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its June 29 ruling that the death penalty is "cruel and unusual punishment" forbidden by the Constitution.

New arguments were requested by Georgia and Texas, which originated the cases on which the historic 5-4 decision was based, and by District Attorney Arlen Specter of Philadelphia.

The high court seldom reconsiders a ruling, particularly one as far-reaching and as long under advisement as the death sentence cases.

Reconsideration may be accomplished only by vote of a majority, which must include a justice who sided with the majority in the decision itself.

After announcing its judgment in June, the Court returned a big backlog of capital punishment appeals to the various states for appropriate action.

Georgia asked for rehearing of 13 of its cases on the ground, among others, that the Court had issued a decision of "countrywide proportions" instead of limiting it to Georgia's own circumstances.

Texas, asking for a rehearing of Elmer Branch's appeal, said the decision was based on "the blind generalities of statistics." Branch, a black, was convicted of raping a 65-year-old white woman.

Specter called for reconsideration of the cases of Anthony Scoleri and Frank Phelan. Scoleri was convicted of the robbery-murder of a shopkeeper; Phelan of the murder of Mrs. Jack Lopinson and her husband's business partner.

Specter said Pennsylvania had not had an opportunity to explain to the Court its method of imposing the death penalty. He said it can be imposed only for first-degree murder and in a separate jury proceeding after guilt has been determined.

IRA Leader Is Captured

BELFAST (UPI) — British troops have captured a leader of the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA), the army said today.

A statesman in the Irish Republic said civil war looms in Northern Ireland.

In sporadic violence Monday, masked gunmen bombed the town hall in Strabane near the Irish Republic border, extensively damaging the three story building. There were no casualties, police said.

In Belfast, troops arrested Cornelius McHugh, operations officer of the Provisionals' 1st Battalion, at his home in the capital's Roman Catholic Andersonstown district Monday, an army spokesman said.

McHugh offered no resistance, the army said.

In the Strabane bombing, three gunmen dumped a duffel bag containing an estimated 50-pound bomb in the entrance hall of the town hall. Then they shouted a warning that sent the 30 persons inside the building fleeing to safety. The bomb exploded half an hour later.

In London, Connor Cruise O'Brien, spokesman on Northern Ireland for the Irish Republic's Labor party, said few people realize how close he said Northern Ireland is to an all-out war between its Protestant and Catholic communities.

"There is a general failure to realize how very near we are to a full-scale sectarian civil war," O'Brien told a news conference.

O'Brien, who served as the United Nations representative in the Congo during the early 1960s crisis there, said he favors the unification of the north with the mainly Catholic republic providing Protestants in the province supported the move.
